NICE FIGHT ON AT INSTITUTE

City Teachers Favor Move to Disband Rush County Organization
—Vote Late Today.

CHANCES ARE IT WILL FAIL

Program Considered Best in Years
With Three Well Known
Educators Speaking.

A movement was on foot today at the Rush County Teachers' Institute to disband the organization. This kind of a move was known to be favored by the teachers of the public schools of Rushville, but will likely be opposed by the other teachers. It was expected that the fight will develop one way or the other when the matter was introduced in resolution form late this afternoon at the business session.

The teachers of this city believe they have enough institutes of their own without having to attend these and thus started the fight to disband the organization. It was hardly thought likely that favorable action would be taken on this kind of a resolution.

The teachers of Rush county in their twenty-first annual institute were given an opportunity of hearing three men of exceptional ability. It is seldom that an institute program contains as many speakers especially as the men came here as educators. The attendance was large and the institute was a success from every standpoint. The sessions were held in the auditorium of the Graham building.

The officers elected for next year were as follows: C. M. Conger, president; Mrs. Margaret Morton, vice-president; Miss Margaret Clemmer, secretary, and Miss Mary Stewart, treasurer. The executive committee is as follows: N. W. Coil, Harry Mahan and William Grose.

The speakers here for the institute were Prof. G. I. Christie, superintendent of the Agricultural Extension Department of Purdue University;

PROF. G. I. CHRISTIE.

city; Prof. L. J. Retter, head of the physiology department of the Indiana State Normal and E. B. Wetherow, superintendent of the public schools of Miami county.

The morning program was so arranged that sectional programs were held. This afternoon the two addresses were given by Prof. Christie and Prof. Retter. At the morning session Prof. Retter spoke on the subject "The New Emphasis in Education." He told of the growth of the school system in this country until at present there is a universal faith in education. He declared that some things were going too far in the public school as the public as a rule believed that if you start a thing in the school it will spread to the outside. He referred to the introduction of the new method of teaching.

ARRANGEMENTS FOR DINNER ABOUT MADE

Membership "Feed" of Chamber of Commerce Will be Held in Christian Church Basement.

A GOOD PROGRAM PLANNED

At a meeting of the committees appointed for the membership dinner of the Chamber of Commerce, it was announced last night that the dinner would be held in the basement of the Main Street Christian church on Wednesday evening, December 1, at six-thirty o'clock. The ticket committee will start work next week placing the tickets at thirty-five cents each.

It is hoped by the various committees to make the membership dinner the biggest thing the Chamber of Commerce ever undertook. The ticket sale is not restricted to the membership alone as it is desired as many as possible outside the membership be present. The program committee is arranging a pleasing program of speeches and music.

The dinner will be served by the Ladies Aid Society of the Main Street Christian church and chicken will have a prominent place on the menu, it is announced.

GUARDIAN HAD NO REGARD FOR TRUST

Clayton Johnson Sent to Jail by
Judge Sparks After Admitting
That he Spent Money.

FAILED TO MAKE HIS REPORT

Failure to make a report to the court while acting as guardian for his two children proved a serious thing for Clayton Johnson. He was sent to jail this morning by Judge Sparks, after he had been removed as guardian for Leo and Ora Johnson, his two children, and will remain in jail until the report is made. Thomas M. Green was appointed guardian.

An attachment was issued for Johnson to the sheriff of Henry county, but he could not be located there. The attachment was then sent to Wayne county and Johnson was brought here this morning by the sheriff of Wayne county. When arraigned before Judge Sparks, Johnson admitted that he spent the money for his own use and the court to show Johnson that guardianship funds should not be trifled with sent him to jail. The trust amounted to $232 and the report was due last February.

RATES FOR ONE YEAR LOWERED

General Decrease in Cost of Short-Term Insurance Policies is in Effect Here.

WANT TO REDUCE SURPLUS

This Revealed by Fact That Five-Year Policies' Rates Are Increased—Three-Year Same.

Despite talk of increased fire insurance rates for this city, the new rate which became effective last August and under which policies are being written, is less than last year for one year policies. It was generally known that a new rate was effective, but it has been since last August, and while there is talk of another adjustment soon, insurance men here do not take much stock in this talk as the new rate was made and approved by the Sellers agency of Indianapolis.

From the new rates it is obvious that the insurance companies are getting away from the long term risks. This is shown from the fact that one year policies are lowered and the rate for a five year policy is increased. One insurance man stated that the insurance companies desired to reduce their surplus funds and the risk is considerably greater.

The rate on an ordinary frame house with a shingle roof is now thirty-two cents on the $100. These kind of houses are in the majority in Rushville and because of this these rates are cited. The old rate for this kind of a house was forty cents for the one hundred dollars. This rate is for one year policies. The three year policies for frame houses with shingle roofs is eighty cents for each $100 of insurance.

There is no change in the rates for three-year policies, the new rate remaining at eighty cents. The rate for five year policies, however, is increased 8 cents on the $100 worth of insurance. The new rate for a five year policy is $1.28 per $100, while formerly it was $1.20.

From this schedule of rates it is readily seen that the insurance companies are discouraging the long term policy and urging the one year policy in its place.

The price of insurance on buildings in the business district will not be materially changed by the new rate. The ordinary brick mercantile building can be insured for a one year term at the old rates, while the longer period policy is raised considerably.

EASY FOR HARVARD.

(By United Press.)

Cambridge, Mass., Nov. 20.—Harvard was having an apparently easy time over Yale this afternoon. The score at the end of the second quarter was Harvard 27; Yale 0. In the first period Mahan punted to Bingham, who fumbled the ball. Harte grabbed the ball and ran twenty-five yards for the first touchdown. Harvard led 13 to 0 at the end of the first period.

RAILROAD CASE HEARD.

The case against the Pennsylvania railroad for alleged violations of a statute providing for a certain number of men on a section, was heard this morning by Mayor Behont and taken under advisement. The affidavit was filed by Alex Roan, who was formerly employed on the railroad as a section man. Under the law the railroad must have three men on the section.

U. P. REVIVAL TO CLOSE SUNDAY

Successful Meeting Under Direction
of the Rev. S. R. Jamieson of Oxford Will End.

WEATHER PROVES NO DAMPER

One More Addition Last Night at Main Street Christian Bringing Total to 40.

Bad weather last night had little effect on the attendance at the revival services being conducted here. At the Main Street Christian church one more addition to the church was reported, bring the total up to forty.

The United Presbyterian church announces that the revival there will come to a close Sunday evening. The services have been conducted by the Rev. S. R. Jamieson of Oxford, O. He will preach both morning and evening tomorrow. At the morning service baptism will be administered; the newly elected elders will be ordained and the Lord's Supper observed. The subject of the morning sermon is "The Love of God." In the evening he will preach on the subject "The Three Crosses."

The Rev. J. O. H. Smith will preach both morning and evening Sunday at the Main Street Christian church. A special meeting for men has been arranged for Sunday afternoon at three o'clock. At this service the Rev. Mr. Smith will take for his subject "A Man's a Man for A' That" and H. H. Saunders will sing "Mother Macbree." This service is open to all men of the city.

Evangelist J. H. O. Smith's sermon at the Main Street Christian church last night, was on the topic: "What Dreams May Come." He spoke in part as follows:

"The King was dead—and buried. The wailing funeral dirge thrilled to a wedding march, as the fickle queen turned from the tomb of her Lord to wed her brother. Her son-Mysterious Hamlet-brooding over this shameful haste, sees the uneasy spirit of his father. From those ghostly lips he hears strange words of murder and revenge that set his heart throbbing and his reason reeling. Shall he avenge his father's death upon his guilty usurper, or shall he end his own miserable life. His own quietus make with bare bodkin? 'To die—to sleep—perchance to dream—aye there's the rub. For in that sleep of death what dreams may come, when we have shuffled off this mortal coil, must give us pause.'

"Death does not end all. Character is indestructible. A wasted life, a fiend-tormented soul tastes hell this side the grave. What can eternity do for a character that once was pure, but for years has been distorted and defiled. 'The worm dieth not.' An eternity of remorse. 'The fire is not quenched.' What flames so awful as the memory of evil deeds?

"We do not like to hear of 'Outer darkness, where there is weeping and wailing and gnashing of teeth.' But we do not hear these outcries of lost souls even this side of eternity? Nay, walk along our streets and know that in more than one home, women lie prostrate in an agony of remorse, and men curse God and long for death. What hope is there? What angel can we call to those demon-haunted pillows, changing those horrid dreams to visions of delight? If there is no hope in Christ, then an awful eternity of remorse awaits us. After the final struggle, after the weary days of darkened rooms and hushed foot steps, the pitiful smiles of false encouragement, the fearful voices trying to cheer, the long nights when the lights

MANN HAS HIS OWN IDEAS

Will Not go to White House to Discuss Preparedness.

Washington, Nov. 20.—Informed today that he would be invited by the president to consult of the preparedness program, Representative Mann of Illinois, Republican leader of the House said:

"I am willing to consult with the president on preparedness but I will not go to the white house to be informed of the program I am expected to support. As to myself I favor a general policy of preparedness. I have my own idea and I do not propose to take orders from the president."

CONFEDERATE BILL PASSED AT SOCIAL

Reported Federal Authorities Are Investigating Passing of Phony
Money at School

INQUIRY IS TO BE THOROUGH

It has just become known that the federal authorities are investigating the passing of a Confederate ten-dollar bill at a social at School No. 9 in Rushville township three miles southwest of this city a week ago Friday night. The story runs that a young woman was the cashier and that when the bill in question was presented, in payment for a 25-cent article she did not give it the "once-over" but promptly passed back the $9.75 in change that was due.

According to reports, it was even more than a Confederate bill. On one side it had the appearance of a Confederate bill, while on the other was an advertisement. It is not known whether the authorities have any clues in their search, but it is said that their inquiry will be very thorough and that they will eventually find who the guilty person is.

LIFE SENTENCE WAS GIVEN CRAIG

Jury Took Seventeen Ballots in Declaring Him Guilty of Murder
in Second Degree.

KILLED FACTORY FOREMAN

(By United Press.)

Newcastle, Ind., Nov. 20.—John Craig, 30, was today found guilty of murder in the second degree by a jury in the Henry circuit court and sentenced to life imprisonment. Craig killed Frank Dean, foreman of the sure-seal room of the Ball Brothers glass factory in Muncie last August during a quarrel following his discharge by Dean.

The jury took seventeen ballots in reaching the verdict. The first two ballots stood 9 to 3 for life punishment and then the vote was 10 to 2 until the agreement was reached.

The case went to the jury at three o'clock yesterday afternoon and the verdict was not reached until this morning. The case was taken to Newcastle on a change of venue from Delaware county.

REDMEN NOTICE.

All members of Tanpah Tribe, No. 102 I. O. R. M. are requested to be at the Wigwam Sunday at two o'clock to make arrangements for the funeral of our late brother Thomas Felts. Members are requested to meet at Wigwam Monday at 1 o'clock to attend the funeral.

DELAY ARGUMENT FOR NEW TRIAL

One of Attorneys Unable to Get Here and Johnson-Gray Case is Postponed.

SPECIAL JUDGE ON BENCH

Overrules Motion of Railway Company For Judgment on Interrogatories—Other Court News.

The argument on the motion for a new trial in the Johnson-Gray case, set for this morning in circuit court, was postponed because Raymond Springer of Connersville one of the attorneys representing John Gray found it impossible to be in court here today. Great interest has been aroused over the motion for a new trial. The defendant filed affidavits stating misconduct of Juror Jones and the plaintiff came back yesterday with a counter affidavit charging that he did not make the assertions as charged in the first affidavit.

Judge David Wilson of Shelbyville was on the bench here this morning long enough to overrule a motion for judgment on the interrogatories in the case of Marshall Green against the Big Four. The jury originally gave Green damages in the sum of $550 and the defendant alleged that the verdict was not consistent with the answer to the interrogatories and asked for judgment on this ground.

The case of Walter E. Smith against Joseph Stern was dismissed and the costs paid. The suit was a proceeding supplementary and followed a judgment secured by Smith against Stern.

A notice was filed by the petitioners in the Cavitt drain case asking that the costs be retaxed.

In the case of the Maryland Casualty company against John A. Grubbs, to be released from his bond as guardian, Judge Sparks ordered Grubbs to file a new bond within ten days. Notice of this kind was given to the sheriff and the court intimated that Grubbs had better get a new bondsman and pay some attention to the court.

Judge Sparks heard the petition of Mrs. Della Cassady for an allowance this afternoon. The petition was filed as part of the proceedings in her divorce suit against Woodford Cassady.

Judge Sparks stated today that he would go to Richmond Tuesday to hear argument on a motion for a change of venue in the suit heard there some time ago in which he was special judge. It is quite likely that the case will be sent to Henry

MRS. ELLEN ALLEN DIES FRIDAY NIGHT

Succumbs One Week After Operation
After Her Recovery Seemed Probable.

FUNERAL WILL BE MONDAY

Mrs. Ellen Allen, age seventy-four years, a native of Ireland, died Friday night at the Sexton sanatorium following an operation, which she underwent last Saturday, for obstruction of the bowels. Her recovery seemed probable until Friday morning when a relapse came and she declined rapidly.

Mrs. Allen came to America with her parents when she was only seven years of age. The greater part of her married life was spent in Indianapolis, where she lived for thirty-five years. She moved here, together with her daughter, Mrs. Eva Cressenger, on June 1, 1913, and since that time had lived at 722 North Perkins street. Mrs. Allen was the widow of George W. Allen.

Four children were born to Mrs. Allen, but only the daughter, Mrs. Cressenger, survives. In addition she is survived by three sisters and two brothers, as follows: Mrs. Anna Raskob of Wilmington, Delaware; Mrs. Beatrice Shomers of Niagara Falls, N. Y.; Mrs. Mary McCoy, living west of Rushville; John and Joe Moran of Indianapolis. She was a member of the Catholic church and the funeral services will be held there Monday morning at nine o'clock. Burial will take place in the Holy Cross cemetery in Indianapolis.

NECESSITY FOR UNION IS SHOWN

B. R. Inman, Former Progressive, Says Friends of Prosperity Should All Get Together

TARIFF LAW IS UNPOPULAR

Should be no Discrimination Against Men Because of Their Attitude in 1912

Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 20.—As the campaign advances it is significant to note that among those who are taking an active part in Republican politics in Indiana, are a large number of men who were leaders in the Progressive party in 1912 and 1914. Among these is B. R. Inman, Assistant Secretary of the Columbia Club, of Indianapolis who is in charge of the membership campaign which has resulted in an increase of the Club membership from 1097 to over 3200 since March 1st.

Mr. Inman, like many other former Progressives, believes that a three party alignment is impractical, and that a restoration of a protective tariff is possible only through the success of the Republican party. In a recent issue of the Cincinnati Commercial Tribune, that paper quoted Mr. Inman in an interview concerning the selection of the candidates on the Republican ticket in the coming campaign. The Tribune says: "Ben R. Inman, formerly a well-known newspaper man of the Sixth District, who was one of the most active Progressives in the 1912-14 campaigns, is doing as much as any one man in the State to bring the two wings of the Republican party together for the coming contest. Upon the showing made by the Progressives in the 1914 election Mr. Inman, who was a Republican in every bone and sinew, saw, as did thousands of others, the futility of longer undertaking to combat the Democrats with a divided party, and at once set about to bring the Progressives and Republicans together in order that they might wage successful conflict against the common enemy. In an interview with Mr. Inman this week he said:

"The tariff will be the one overshadowing issue in the next campaign. All Republicans, 90 per cent. of the Progressives and a large number of Democrats believe that the restoration of a protective tariff is essential to national prosperity of a permanent, potential type.

"That the present Democrat tariff law is unpopular with business men generally, as well as with the agricultural classes and wage earners, is evident. That the rehabilitation of the Republican party is essential to the restoration of a protective tariff is also evident.

"Thus it is that Republicans and Progressives alike realize the necessity for a union of all the forces of protection in the 1916 campaign. In order that this may be accomplished

ed it is necessary for those who disagreed in 1912 to put aside their differences as to leadership at that time and submit to the will of the majority in the rehabilitated party as to the leadership in 1916.

"In the selection of the candidates on the Republican ticket from county to national in 1916, there should be no discrimination against any man because of his attitude in 1912. Ability, fitness and capacity for highest type of public service should be the first consideration in the selection of the nominees in the coming campaign. The individual who persists in demanding that one person should not be nominated for a public office because he was promoting the nomination of Mr. Taft in 1912 is as unreasonable and impractical as the one who insists that the man who favored the nomination of Mr. Roosevelt should be eliminated as a candidate. Either attitude is absurd. Each should concede that the other had a perfect right to adopt his own course in 1912. All should agree that the nominees of the Republican party in 1916 shall be selected by the majority of those who will vote the Republican ticket at that election, and when such selection has been made the nominees are entitled to and should receive the enthusiastic support of every voter who believes in the cardinal principles of the Republican party, regardless of the nominees' action in 1912.

"The position here taken by Mr. Inman will no doubt meet with the hearty approval of the leaders of both Progressives and Republicans and should go a long way towards bringing about a close union of the forces of good government under the old Republican banner.

Mr. Inman has taken a very sane and practical attitude in this matter; and it is becoming more and more apparent each day that Republican and former Progressives in Indiana are rapidly getting together for a united assault against the common enemy of protection in 1916. As an evidence of the union of the two forces, it is said that in many counties in the state former Progressives will be nominated on the Republican county and legislative tickets.

IS ATTACHED TO HIS OLD MACHINE

President Wilson Retains Typewriter Which Looks Like it Had Been Through War.

REFUSES TO PART WITH IT

Has Ribbon That is About as Fresh as Battle Flag in Museum—Won't Use Another.

(By United Press.)
Washington, Nov. 20.—When President Wilson writes a message to Congress it looks something like this: X?/

In addition to which the machine's alphabet is badly chewed as to legs and shoulders. The spacebar suffers from intermittent paralysis. Some of the letters are virtually mute. Others have bold, black faces. The ribbon is about as fresh and whole as a battle flag in a museum. The mechanism generally is decrepit, and limps heavily through the affairs of state only under the severest Presidential goading. Mr. Wilson admits it is far from faultless, but he likes it, and he is very proud of the fact that it has no hyphen.

You couldn't get a typewritten line out of the President on any machine but this one—not even with a dark-lantern and a jimmie. White House humorists say he has hand-raised the poor old thing so long he has developed a personal attachment for it. If so, that is the only valuable attachment it has.

For years and years the ancient machine has endured professional, authorial and presidential pecking. And pecking is right, for Mr. Wilson is a disciple of the Hunt system, or forefinger hesitation. Wherefore it may be said that this is the only typewriter that ever had the distinction of having hesitated with a President. It might be added that this couple is getting ready to lead congress a merry dance this winter while the orchestra plays "O You Preparedness."

The low, rakish form of this ancient, rusty friend of the President's reposes in his library. They understand each other's idiosyncracies and eccentricities and they stand ready together at any time to battle submarines, blockades of natural ports, or a-a-oh, any darned thing.

TO MAKE IRVINGTON WET

Injunction Against Commissioners Expected to Develop Hard Fight

(By United Press.)
Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 20.—Many declared today when the hearing on a petition for an injunction against the county commissioners opened in circuit court that it would decide whether classic Irvington, the home of Butler college, should be made saloon territory.

The injunction would prevent the commissioners extending the boundaries of Center township (Indianapolis and wet) to include Irvington and Washington township.

A temporary restraining order is now in effect. The reason given by the commissioners for desiring to extend Center township is that they wish to have it include all of Indianapolis.

tion of the Bible into the public school and stated that he believed this should be restricted and started by the aggressive people of a community on the outside of the school. Superintendent Wetherow spoke on "Common Errors in Teaching Writing." He told of the different things necessary to make a successful writer of a pupil. The material at hand and the position which the child was placed were large factors discussed by him.

At the morning session Prof. Christie spoke on the subject "Vocational Problems." He stated that many people had the wrong view of the teaching of agriculture in the public school. He said that these people thought that the purpose of the course was to tell them a new way of farming. Prof. Christie declared that this was wrong, as they were not telling the people anything new but aiding them to do better what they already know.

He urged the teachers of agriculture to not stick too closely to the text books but to let the pupils find out some things for themselves out in the fields. He stated that interest could be aroused, not only in the school, but in the entire community by conducting corn shows in the school. Prof. Christie declared that if the teacher succeeds in getting the parents interested the project was assured.

He discussed some of the every day problems of the teachers. One of these is that the small school has no laboratory. Prof. Christie told these teachers to use the fields and woods adjoining the school.

Miss Sleeth, city librarian, addressed the teachers regarding the public library. She urged the teachers to see that the children used it as she declared it was open to the public. She told of the many kinds of books and of the work being done to keep the library up to the standard.

Dr. Coleman, president of the Rush County Society for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis, addressed the teachers on the sale of Red Cross seals. He was busy all day passing out the seals to the teachers, as has been done in the past. The teachers through their pupils should help the sale of the seals greatly.

What do You Think?

When you meet a fellow on the street and his face is warped and twisted by an unholy scowl, what do you think?

When a lazy duffer hogs a whole seat on a train and lets a tired woman stand with a baby in her arms, what do you think?

When John Smith whispers into your ear that Tom Jones "is a good one to look out for," but that you must not tell anyone that he (Smith) said so, what do you think?

When one woman tells you that another woman "is the biggest gossip in town and that the gossip's own closet is just jammed with skeletons," what do you think?

When a politician promises you the earth with an iron fence around it and the moon with all of its green cheese if you will only vote for him, what do you think?

When a public official forgets all of his promises and loses his good resolutions and becomes as blind as a bat as soon as he is inducted into office, what do you think?

When a man coughs up a stiff prayer in church on Sunday and then skins you in a sharp deal on Monday, what do you think?

When a preacher tells you of the glories of religion and of the benefits of purity in your own daily life, and then goes off and eats his Sunday dinner with the biggest old church hypocrite in town, what do you think?

When you hear a fellow bragging of the great deeds he has done and you know he is lying faster than an automobile can speed, what do you think?

When a man tells you a smutty story of some good woman and you know her character is as white as his soul is black, what do you think?

When you hear a young braggart making suggestive remarks about all young girls except his own sister, what do you think?

When you see one may trying to undermine the legitimate business of another by making veiled allusions to possible financial disaster, what do you think?

When a man owes you a dollar and crosses the street to avoid meeting you, what do you think?

When a girl leads a man on to declaring himself and then deliberately tosses him over without compunction, what do you think?

When a duffer borrows a five spot from you and promises to return it tomorrow, and tomorrow never comes, what do you think?

When a man looks you in the eye and tells you a deliberate lie, and you know that he is lying and that he knows that you know it, what do you think?

And if you should happen to do any of these things, what do you think?

Harking Back Few Years

The Economic World, of New York has rendered its readers a very useful service by enlarging its table of statistics showing weekly bank clearings. Heretofore that paper has given statistics for one week in 1915 with comparative figures for 1914. Naturally, the showing was a very gratifying one. Now, in an effort to give its readers all available information upon which to base their opinions, figures are also given for 1913 and 1912. The disclosures will not be at all pleasing to those Democratic statesmen who have been boasting of prosperity "restored." Figures for seven cities—New York, Chicago, Philadelphia, Boston, St. Louis, Baltimore and New Orleans—for the week ending October 22, 1915, show that in every instance the bank clearings were larger for 1915 than for 1914. In only two cities, however, were the clearings larger in 1915 than in 1913. These two were New York and Philadelphia, both located in the region made prosperous by "war orders." In spite of the great boom of war orders, not one of the seven cities above named reports as large an amount of transactions in 1915 as in 1912, the last year of Republican administration. The European war will become far more strenuous than it has yet developed, before it will "restore" the degree of prosperity enjoyed by this country in 1912.

The swing toward Republicanism in this year's elections was impressive and far-reaching. It affected not only the chief places on the ticket but it extended as well to the minor posts. For instance in New York and in Connecticut when mayors of cities were to be chosen, the Republican tide made a practically clean sweep.

"National defense is not a party issue," remarks the Washington "Post," predicting that the Administration program is likely to be more largely supported on the Republican than on the Democratic side. And, dependent as the President is upon Republican votes for the success of his measures for preparedness, the "Post" points out that "no advantage is to be achieved by offering a gratuitous slight to Republican members." Yet, by furthering the cloture rule in the Senate, the President seems bent upon this very thing.

Just why should George Burkitt worry over his job as assistant postmaster of the little village of Winnetka, Ill.? Getting fired by the post office department for commenting adversely upon the engagement of the president and Mrs. Galt, and then being promptly and emphatically reinstated by the president himself, has made him a national figure and is rapidly qualifying him for stage life or lecture platform. And really, now, if Mr. Wilson wants to marry Mrs. Galt and the lady is willing, whose business is it? And if Mr. Burkitt wants to exercise the American right of free speech in gentlemanly language, whose business is that?

From the White House, on election night, came no comment on the results of this year's voting. The only statement forthcoming was that the President had gone to bed. As we recall, the stereotyped despatch from Fairview, Lincoln, Nebraska, on the election nights of 1896, 1900 and 1908, read: "Mr. Bryan retired early."

In these days you can't make a man out of a monkey, and neither can you make a respectable member of society out of a brainless idiot who gaps around on street corners and makes vulgar remarks about every woman who passes. Feeble minded degenerates should be in asylums for imbeciles, where they belong.

Don't worry over competition in business. It will stiffen your backbone, scrape the rust from your intellect, and life you out of the rut of stagnation. Buck up, step up, and you'll get there.

The editor of the Charleston, W. Va., Gazette boasts that he has 16 sweethearts in that one town, and what more does anyone need than that to demonstrate the power of the press.

When a peppery old duck told his wife she had no sense she meekly pleaded guilty to the charge and pointed to him as the greatest evidence of the fact.

New York has 940,000 school children, according to a newspaper paragraph. Let 'er keep 'em. All local demands can be supplied right here at home.

The talker is a man of words; the producer is one of deeds. We can worry along without the one, but never without the other.

Old King Coal is a terrible soul. A terrible soul is he. He call for your all. He call with gall. And he take you. Yesiree!

A fortune teller for a fifty cent fee will tell you how to get rich and yet live in poverty herself. Hang on to your fifty.

Some men are continually harping on their virtues, but that's because the rest of the world is unable to see them.

Why term it a "handsome profit?" A dollar's worth of soap grease is just as valuable as the same amount in gold.

Some employees get the business, while others are just ornamental. Each is paid in proportion to his value.

The next record for a no-stop fight may be made by a prominent Mexican Statesman.

Yes, Winnetka, Ill., is on the white house map.

The rest cure was invented for people who get tired out doing nothing.

There can never be too much blue sky.

Current Comments

Defense Policy a Joke.

(Columbus, (O.) Monitor.)

The problem of national defense is one which should not be lightly cast aside as an issue which will be taken care of by our own Congress next session. It can be cited that just before each session of Congress there has been prepared by the War College an elaborate program for national defense, which after lengthy talks and pow-wows, has been turned down and the suggestions of a duly elected representative, appointed chairman of military affairs, are given precedence.

The folly of this can be readily understood if taken from a business standpoint. Is it at all probable that a man engaged in the business of farming would be able to carry on the business of manufacturing with any degree of success? Yet such is the status of the present defense program.

Representative James Hay, chairman of the House Military Affairs Committee, assumes sponsorship for the proposed military defense program after ignoring the program of the War College.

It can very easily be assumed that Mr. Hay's support of the administration program comes from the fact that he is a party man and as such will support any measure just so long as that measure is put forward by his party, even to the undermining of the country by inadequate plans for defense against invasion by a foreign foe. Yet, to quote the papers of October 26th: "To him will be entrusted the task of drawing up measures which are to shape a new military policy for the country." This will result in the so-called "Continental Army." A plan so simple, so beautiful and yet so absurd as to give the more serious-minded citizens of the country food for thought. The question now arises, "Will the people of this country calmly stand by and see the real plans for national defense drawn up by men of years experience and training, legislated out of existence by men whose motives can be summed up in the selfish word 'party'?" Will the members of the Republican party "fall for the dope" as handed them by their Democratic friends. While, personally, we do not favor placing the military policies of our country in politics, yet when they are handled with such apparent ignorance this question should be made a national issue, and men placed in the National Congress who are not afraid of party reasons of doing their patriotic duty towards forming an adequate national defense.

HOOSIER HISTORY

Prepared for the United Press by the Centennial Department of the

The "Star And Stripe" Session.

Men were enlisting by thousands—the next thing was to equip them. Morton called a special session of the legislature and addressing it in the famous words, "We have passed from the field of argument to the solemn fact of war," called on it for an appropriation of one million dollars. Almost as one voice the legislature responded with over two million, and passed legislation for which the times called. The firing on Sumter had wrought a magic change in this heretofore "vacillating," turbulent and inefficient "body so great a change that this extra session was known as the "Star and Stripe" session.

WAR NEWS OF ONE YEAR AGO TODAY

Germans Ask What They Are Fighting For

The persistent peace talk in the German papers and the equally persistent official and semi-official denials that Germany has no desire to open negotiations for peace, present a curious contradiction.

In THE LITERARY DIGEST for November 20th this phase of the war is covered in an interesting way. Direct translations from the German press for and against peace are given, and the American reader is enabled to sense the feeling of the German people as reflected in their newspapers. One editor who is not altogether friendly to Germany has described her as being in the position of a "poker player, who, after a run of luck, is anxious to get out of the game while the majority of the chips on the table lie before him."

A Famous Author's Experience

"Yes, I have been a reader of THE DIGEST for twenty years—half of my life. For, I think, at least fifteen years my name has been on your subscription list. I expect to continue a reader of the DIGEST as long as I continue to read anything.

"To attempt to gain anything like a clear view of the world's activities through the fogs of prejudice and the clouds of self-interest that hang always about the local newspaper is a hopeless task. For one who would look with unobstructed vision upon the moving world forces that make for or against the welfare of human kind, THE LITERARY DIGEST is a mountain peak in a clear sky.

"To spend hours searching the daily columns of chaff for a few grains of possible truth is a heart-breaking waste of time, and more—one's eyes become so blinded, one's brain so bewildered, by the whirl of unholy dust that one is made incapable of recognizing with any degree of certainty the truth for which he searches. To have the best thought of the best thinkers separated from the mass of worthless matter, winnowed from the dirt of sensationalism and irresponsible thoughtlessness, and presented clean with the unprejudiced scientific dependability of a modern threshing machine, is a Godsend to all who feel that they have work to do that requires clear thinking.

"Because THE LITERARY DIGEST gives me an unclouded view of the world's doings, because it places me in an atmosphere above prejudice and local self-interest, because it separates for me the grain of the world's thought, from the chaff of idle words, and cleans it of the dirt of sensationalism, I appreciate and enjoy it, and am correspondingly grateful to the Funk & Wagnalls Company for the service."—Harold Bell Wright, Author of "The Shepherd of the Hills," "The Eyes of the World," etc.

Get a small package of Hamburg Breast Tea, or as the German folks call it, "Hamburger Brust Thee," at any pharmacy. Take a tablespoonful of the tea, put a cup of boiling water upon it, pour through a sieve and drink a teacup full at any time during the day or before retiring. It is the most effective way to break a cold and cure grip, as it opens the pores of the skin, relieving congestion. Also loosens the bowels, thus driving a cold from the system.

Try it the next time you suffer from a cold or the grip. It is inexpensive and entirely vegetable, therefore safe and harmless.

RUB BACKACHE AND LUMBAGO RIGHT OUT

Rub Pain and Stiffness away with a small bottle of old honest St. Jacobs Oil

When your back is sore and lame or lumbago, sciatica or rheumatism has you stiffened up, don't suffer! Get a 25 cent bottle of old, honest "St. Jacobs Oil" at any drug store, pour a little in your hand and rub it right into the pain or ache, and by the time you count fifty, the soreness and lameness is gone.

Don't stay crippled! This soothing, penetrating oil needs to be used only once. It takes the ache and pain right out of your back and ends the misery. It is magical, yet absolutely harmless and doesn't burn the skin.

Nothing else stops lumbago, sciatica and lame back misery so promptly!

CAGED BASKET AS WHISTLE BLEW STATE WATCHES BIG GAMES TODAY

Captain Bryce Stoops Throws Field Goal in Liberty Game That is Not Allowed.

PLAYS A CLOSE GAME

Rushville Loses First Game by Close
Score of 25 to 24 to The Liberty High School.

The Rushville high school basketball team lost the first scheduled game of the season last night to the Liberty high school, at Liberty, by the close score of 25 to 24. The local team played a great game from start to finish and it was either teams game until the final whistle blew. The local five led by a margin of one point at the close of the first half, the score being 10 to 9.

The local five outplayed the Liberty team in its fast team work and floor work, but fell a little short at shooting the hoop. The Rushville team made remarkable passes and by fast team work, made the plays difficult to be broken up. The whistle calling the time out was blown just as Forward Bryce Stoops of the local five hurled a field goal into the basket. It is said that the field goal was not allowed because it was not completely caged when the final whistle blew.

The game was very sportsmanlike and was immensely enjoyed by the Rushville quintet. Considering that it was the first scheduled game of the season, the local five showed up very well. Arthur Fry started in at forward, playing opposite Captain Stoops, but he was taken out and Dye given a chance. Finally Pope took Dye's place and finished the game. The summary:

RUSHVILLE	Position.	LIBERTY
Stoops	Forward	Barnard
Fry, Dye	Forward	Stevens
Martin	Center.	Whitman
Reed	Guard	Tatman
Frazier, Pope	Guard	Maibaugh
Field goals, Barnard 4, Stevens 3, Whitman, Stoops 5, Fry 2, Martin 2, Dye. Foul throws, Stevens 9; Stoops 4.

(U. P. Staff Correspondent.)

Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 20.—One football championship and two stern rivalries kept Indiana fandom close to the singing wires this afternoon, listening for results. In Bloomington, Indianapolis and at Richmond, three even battles began before partisan crowds that did their best to add to the tenseness of the situation on the gridiron before them.

Indiana was all set today to wipe out Purdue's record of four terrific beatings in a row. In the past four years while Indiana has scored 43 points, Purdue has scored 111. With every sign pointing to football rejuvenation at the coed, institution, and with Purdue still smarting under the humiliating defeat of last Saturday when Kentucky State beat the Boilermakers 7 to 0, it appeared that Indiana had the chance of a decade.

Taking the record of the two state institutions since football relations began in 1893, they are practically at a tie. Indiana has won eight games, scoring 226 points while Purdue has won seven games, scoring 224 points. There was one tie, in 1905.

Not a few fans swore today that better pigskin manipulation would be seen at Indianapolis where DePauw and Wabash play, than at Bloomington. The game at Washington park had additional attraction, in that it was for a title. For first time in several years the secondary colleges will have a champion where dope does not figure—providing this is not an unsatisfactory tie game. Both the Methodist and the Presbyterian schools have gone through the season without a defeat so far as the secondary schools are concerned. DePauw has lost only to Indiana and St. Louis.

The Little Giants had slightly the better of the dope on this afternoon's game. Their string of victories looked good and it was known that the fighting spirit that has given Wabash a name in the middlewest had flamed up to its height again.

Some comparisons on scores were possible. DePauw beat Earlham three weeks ago 42 to 6. Wabash beat Earlham last Saturday 35 to 0. Wabash beat Franklin 40 to 9 while DePauw beat Franklin 6 to 2. DePauw beat Butler 39 to 0 while the Presbyterians beat the Christians 35 to 7. The dope did little but make it appear that the result was a toss-up.

DePauw beat Wabash 3 to 0 last year, but Wabash is 50 per cent. stronger this year than last. Since 1890 DePauw has won eight games, Wabash has won eight and two have been ties. Wabash often has won by big scores, such as 62 to 0 and 52 to 0, but only the proteges of Mrs. Edenharter looked for a one-sided score today.

Of much lesser consequence but of much interest was the Butler-Earlham game at Richmond this afternoon. Although the casual observer probably would put his cash on the Irvington team, the Quakers had grounds for a sneaking suspicion that they would run away with the game by a low margin.

Interest in the game was heightened by the fact that Earlham and Butler are bitter rivals. Athletic relationships have not always been the most pleasant, and the keenest of rivalry always has existed. Next to DePauw, Earlham would rather beat Butler than any other opponent, so far as personal satisfaction is concerned.

Considering only the secondary college dope, Butler has lost four and won one game, losing to Franklin, Rose Poly, Wabash and DePauw and winning from Hanover last Saturday. Earlham has lost four secondary college games and won one, winning from Hanover and losing to Rose, Franklin, Wabash and DePauw. Earlham lost to Rose 7 to 6, while Butler lost to Rose 7 to 0. DePauw beat Earlham 42 to 6, and Butler 39 to 0. Wabash beat Earlham 35 to 0 and Butler 35 to 7. But Earlham's big black mark came in the Franklin game, which she lost 64 to 0. Franklin beat Butler 20 to 16.

The point in Earlham's favor today was that she was playing on her own field. Butler was secondary champion last year.

*NEW YORK FASHION NOTES*
*****

BY MARGARET MASON.
(Written for United Press.)

When Kate goes to skate in her costume so chic,

She'll not mind a bit when some girl does a trick

And cuts fancy figures to outdo the rest.

Kate knows the figure she cuts is the best.

New York, Nov. 19.—No wonder the mercury drops to zero when the skating season begins—it wants to look 'round. Everybody does, when the new skating costumes burst into view and one good look deserves another.

The ice of conventionality is due to be smartly broken when some cute little ice Flo cuts a dash and a figure across the pond in a green mottled silk sweater banded, collared, cuffed and buttoned in gold; a knee length skirt of pelated green and gold stripes, a sassy little round cap with a golden tassel and knee high laced green boots with a tassel of gold bobbing in their tops.

The skating jackets and sweaters are of the most bizarre patterns and garish hues. Fur bands them at every conceivable point as it also bands the short pleated skirts, the skating caps and the tops of the skating boots. Persian figured sweaters as well as one-toned ones of vivid hue are worn with striped skirts of pleated velour de laine; and jackets and skirts to match, of emerald green or cerise, are gorgeous when trimmed in wide bands of white fox.

An all white costume with a short jacket hung crepe like and full from the shoulders is embroidered in silver thread and banded in white fox. The fur-finished full skirt has big silver embroidered pockets on each side. The high white boots are laced with silver and have a silver tassel nestling in their fur tops. A white fox turban, silver tasseled, tops the costume; and a huge round muff of the white fox, with silver tassels, takes the wearer in hand. This costume of snow and silver is fit for the Ice Queen herself and no skittish skater could evr be a frost in it.

Gorgeous bags for skates, embroidered and fur trimmed to match the gay sweaters, hestie mufflers and quaintly ornate muffs are a few of the accessories necessary for the complete skater this year. If a fair skater, thus heavily accoutred, can still skate and get away with it, she is in a class with Charlotte at the Hippodrome, that peerless pirouetter of the ice ballet.

Incidentally, the introduction of the ice ballet in several of the New York musical productions seems to have given a spirit to the gentle art of skating that may freeze out the dance. But beware if you seek to emulate Charlotte with too much excess baggage.

"Mother, may I go out to skate?"

"Yes, but heed advice:

"If you're muffler, bag and muff,

"Then don't go near the ice!"

Designs as shown by some firms are more or less freakish or fadish to attract the attention of the prospective customers with scarcely a thought of their wearing appearance or correctness in proportion. But then they are merely on paper and represent but a small loss if they don't take.

Everyone Should Drink Hot Water
in the Morning

Wash away all the stomach, liver, and bowel poisons before breakfast.

To feel your best day in and day out,
to feel clean inside; no sour bile to coat your tongue and sicken your breath or dull your head; no constipation, bilious attacks, sick headache, colds, rheumatism or grassy, acid stomach, you must bathe on the inside like you bathe outside. This is vastly more important, because the skin pores do not absorb impurities into the blood, while the bowel pores do, says a well-known physician.

To keep these poisons and toxins
well flushed from the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels, drink before breakfast each day, a glass of hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it. This will cleanse, purify and freshen the entire alimentary tract, before putting more food into the stomach.

Get a quarter pound of limestone phosphate from your pharmacist. It is inexpensive and almost tasteless, except a sourish twinge which is not unpleasant. Drink phosphate hot water every morning to rid your system of these vile poisons and toxins;
also to prevent their formation.

To feel like young folks feel; like you felt before your blood, nerves and muscles became saturated with an accumulation of body poisons, begin this treatment and above all, keep it up!
As soap and hot water act on the skin, cleansing, sweetening and purifying, so limestone phosphate and hot water before breakfast, act on the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels.

COST OF COUNTY POOR INCREASES

Claims For This Year Reveal Added Expense of Almost $1,000
Compared With Last Year.

ASYLUM IS NOT INCLUDED

High Cost of Living, War and Increase in Population Given as Cause For Extra Cost.

The high cost of living, the war and an increase in population have combined to increase the amount spent by Rush county for its poor.
Because the claims against the township poor funds are allowed quarterly there will be no more payments this year and thus it is possible for the auditor's office to give the total amount spent during the year for this class of people.

The sum totaled $4,342.19. This is an increase of almost a thousand dollars over last year and an increase of over a thousand dollars over two years ago. In 1914 the amount expended on the poor was $3,525.69 and in 1913 the sum amounted to $3,154.71. These sums do not include the expense of maintaining the poor asylum.

Rushville township naturally heads the list in money expended for the poor. This year Rushville township paid out $2,360.51. Richland township is the low township in amount of money expended. This township spent exactly four dollars.
The amounts paid out of the township poor fund by townships follows: Ripley, $318.60; Posey
$328.44; Walker, $23.50; Orange $101.51; Anderson, $511.56; Rushville, $2,360.51; Jackson, $140.75;
Center, $36.50; Washington
$143.03; Union, $230.69; Noble, $133.10; Richland, $4.00.

Besides this amount spent for poor, Rush county maintains a number of people at state institutions, whose keep the county must pay but which sum does not come out of the county poor fund. At the insane hospital it is necessary for the county to pay for the clothing of the inmates. The county has to pay one-half of the expense of the boys at Plainfield and of the girls at Cler-mont. The bills for all of this expense were received yesterday by the auditor's office. From the bills it is possible to tell the number of inmates Rush county has in all of these institutions.

At the Southeastern Insane Hospital the county maintains clothing for twenty-eight inmates. Seventeen are males and eleven are females.
Rush county has only one inmate at East Haven. This is William B.
Holden. He was very much attached to Dr. Smith and when the inmates were moved to Madison he begged to be left in East Haven and his wish was granted.

The county has two boys in the Indiana State School for the deaf.
They are Bernard Gilson and Russell Warth. The county has two girls at the girl's school at Clermont. There are five boys at Plainfield and one at the Julia E. Work school at Plymouth. The boy at the Work school costs the county forty cents a day.

The insane cost the county $442.
34 for the six months ending Aug.
31. The county's half of the expense of the two girls at Clermont was $68 each. Rush county has seventeen children in the Indianapolis Orphans' asylum. These inmates cost the county forty cents a day and last year at total of $2,200 was expended for the orphans and the girls at Clermont.

Besides all of these inmates at state institutions the county has two patient at the tuberculosis hospital at the rate of $5 a week each.

DOUBT STRENGTH OF CARRANZA

World Diplomatic Circles Will Have to be Shown Whether he Can Enforce Reforms.

MADERO TRIED AND FAILED

Graft Has Held Sway in Mexico and Carranza Will Have no Easy Sailing, is Prediction.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 19.—
Has Carranza the strength and purpose that Madero lacked to enforce reforms, particularly agrarian,
which Madero failed to establish?

This is the question asked in world diplomatic circles today.
Mexican affairs observers point to the brief peaceful reign of Madero as possibly significant.

After his election in 1910 Madero sought reform laws including the division of land among the peons.
He failed. Discontent followed.
Criticisms became active opposition.
Nepotism is said to have weakened Madero's power. Graft again held sway.

Amidst the clamor against Madero, Gen. Victoriano Huerta, Mad-ero's minister of war, is alleged to have conceived his overthrow. Feliz Diaz, nephew of the former dictator, and Gen. Reyes were called Huerta's co-conspirators.

The storm against Madero broke Feb. 9, 1913. The Mexico City garrison, controlled by Huerta, revolted.
The capital was the battleground. Cannon raked the streets.
Rioting and pillage, arson and murder,
reigned.

The arrest of Madero followed Feb. 18. Under threats of assassination he resigned next day. Under the Mexican constitution, Pedro Laseurain, Madero's minister of foreign affairs, became president—for an hour. In that hour Laseurain appointed Huerta foreign minister, then resigned. Huerta, by succession, became president.

Forty-eight hours later Madero and Suarez were dead. On the night of Feb. 23 down by soldiers. Lieut.
Francisco Cardenas is said to have been commander of the firing squad.
He later fled and is today reported exiled in Guatemala.

Upon Madero's death, Huerta urged all state governors to remain loyal.
He also demanded U. S. recognition from President Taft. Before the latter had need to decide, his term ended.

To avenge Madero's assassination and restore constitutional government, the present Constitutionalist revolution was organized, culminating in the recent recognition of the Carranza government.

Gen. Venustiano Carranza was Madero's governor of Coahuila, a well to do rancher. Pancho Villa was then a bandit in the Sonora mountains. On March 26 Carranza was proclaimed "First Chief" of the Constitutionalist revolt, at a conference of revolutionists at Guadalupe, Coahuila. The famous "Plan of Guadalupe" was there born, pledging the Constitutionlists to avenge Mad-ero's death and place a constitutional successor in the President's chair. Land and other reforms were pledged.

Numerous and wealthy relatives of Madero supported Carranza's revolt. Northern Mexico united to recruit Carranza's army. From Sonora Pancho Villa stepped out upon the stage of Mexican politics.
He and his outlaws enlisted under Carranza.

Villa was appointed a general of the division of the North. Gen. Alvaro Obregon was head of the northwestern corps. In a spectacular campaign, Villa headed captures of Juarez, Chihuahua and finally Torre-on, one of the bloodiest battles.
Afterward Zacatecas fell. During 1913-14 the Constitutionlists fought almost to Aguas Calientes.

Meantime President Wilson had refused Huerta recognition. In several messages to Congress, the only eight days after his inauguration, the President declared "Huerta must go" Huerta's downfall was forecast by the President's proclamation raising the embargo on arms in favor of the revolutionists.

Huerta had been recognized by England, Spain, France, Austria, Japan and other countries.

On Oct. 10, 1913, Huerta suspended the Mexican Congress, arrested 111, or half, of the members. There were reports that many were assassinated. With the Carranzistas pressing upon Mexico City, the "Tampico incident" occurred April 9, 1914, when American bluejackets were arrested by Huerta's orders. Demands by Admiral Mayo for a salute to the flag in reparation, was swiftly followed by the expeditionary landing
April 21 at Vera Cruz, with fighting in which 21 Americans were killed.
The army commanded by Gen. Funston took possession.

President Wilson then called the
A. B. C. Mexican peace conference at Niagara Falls April 25. Huerta sent delegates. Carranza refused official participation or an armistice. No tangible results toward pacification were attained by the Congress.

Capitulating to the force of this government's insistence upon his retirement, Huerta, after a farcical election as President in July, 1914, resigned July 15 and went to Paris.
Carranza entered Mexico City at the head of his troops Aug. 20, 1914.

FIGHT SEEMED TO BE BREWING

Ominous Air About Fifth District Gathering of Woman's Franchise League at Brazil

PITCHED BATTLE EXPECTED

Fight For Influence in Home Section of Mrs. Cox and Mrs. Stimson Expected to be Interesting

(By United Press.)

Brazil, Ind., Nov. 20.—When women of the Fifth district gathered here today for the district meeting of the Woman's Franchise League, there was an ominous air about the meeting that reminded one of a pitched battle. This is the home district of Mrs. L. J. Cox and Mrs. S. C. Stimson the two women whose bitter fight in the Federation of Clubs convention at Indianapolis threatened to disrupt that organization and has now spread to every district in Indiana.

The battle of influence here today was whether Mrs. Cox or Mrs. Stimson should control their home district.

Brazil is a scant 15 miles from Terre Haute, the home of the two principals, and women from that city began streaming in early. They were met by a cavalcade from Indianapolis, representing the state organization, known to be hostile thus far in the district meetings, there were indications that she might be able to swing her own district. This the Cox forces would not concede, however.

The fight started when Mrs. Stimson chose to oppose the candidacy of Mrs. Cox for the presidency of the Federation. Mrs. Stimson won her fight, after branding Mrs. Cox as the liberal candidate. The methods Mrs. Stimson used to win have been made the basis of the fight in the Franchise League. Her opponents have charged that she circulated papers branding Mrs. Cox as a friend of the orderly saloon. Mrs. Stimson has at no time denied that she circulated such papers.

Although Mrs. Stimson won easily in the Federation, defeating the supposedly undefeatable Mrs. Grace Julian Clarke leader of the Cox forces, the Franchise League cast almost a solid vote for Mrs. Cox. The next development was a vote of a partial meeting of board members of the league to ask Mrs. Stimson to resign from the board. This Mrs. Stimson declared she would not do. She said her opponents were the friends of the liquor interests and nonchurch people. In five districts the fight for and against Mrs. Stimson has been waged. First at Anderson the district voted to sustain Mrs. Stimson. Then at Huntington, Elkhart and Evansville they voted to sustain the action of the board in asking her to resign. Richmond was wise and voted to be neutral. No action was taken at Lafayette.

STANDS A CREDIT TO REPUBLICANS

Reorganization of Consular Service in 1906 an Admiral Piece of Constructive Legislation.

PLACED ON A SOUND BASIS

Lodge Bill, Receiving Solid Support of Republicans, Passed on April 5, 1906.

Washington, Nov. 20.—One of the most admirable pieces of constructive legislation to be credited to the Republican party is to be found in the reorganization of the consular service, which took place in 1906.

The report of the Civil Service Commission for 1902 stated: "Our consular service has attained an importance far beyond that which it had any previous period of our history. So long as our exports were confined to a few agricultural products and we sold our manufactured goods mostly at home, the foreign consul was a man of comparatively very little importance. But we have entered upon a new phase of our national career. The chief characteristics of this national expansion were developed during the five year period from 1897, when the Dingley tariff law went into effect, to 1902.

Efforts looking to the reorganization of the consular service had never been more than half-heartedly undertaken by the Democratic party. In 1895 Cleveland issued an order which provided for an examination board to test the fitness of consular applicants. A student of the question, Avard L. Bishop, of Yale, says: "It does not appear that the standard governing appointments was thereby much improved, for the examination was, in many cases, a mere matter of form—the appointment often preceding it."

In 1906, Roosevelt, Root, Lodge, and Robert Adams, Jr., of Pennsylvania, took up the question of putting our consular service on a sound basis. A bill was introduced by Senator Lodge, the business men of the country became interested in the subject, and a national consular reform convention was held in Washington, which adopted the following resolution: "It is the opinion of the constituent bodies of this convention that the consular service of the United States should be reorganized as provided for in Senate Bill 1345, introduced by Senator Lodge. Every feature of that bill is, in the judgment of the business organizations of the country, most essential and in harmony with the growing needs of the United States."

The Lodge bill was passed April 5, 1906, receiving the solid support of the Republicans, both in the Senate and in the House. It became operative June 30, following. It provided for a grading of the service, the substitution of salaries for fees, forbade consuls to engage in private business, declared that all consuls getting $1000 or more a year should be American citizens, and established a corps of consular inspectors. To make the consular service still more efficient, President Roosevelt, by executive order of June 27, put it on a merit system basis. Vacancies in the two lower grades were to be filled by examination, (and the examination is a stiff one) and in the higher grades by promotion. Due to this order the consular service offered a career worthy the consideration of a high class of men. As a political plum-tree it was severed at the foot. To use the language of then Secretary Root, at the hearing on the bill: "So long as the present administration is in power there is every assurance that the merit system as provided for in the executive order of June 27 will govern not only appointments, but promotions as well."

The work of the Republican party in placing the consular service on a firm foundation has been productive of excellent results. The structure still remains, despite several undermining influences put into operation by the present administration. It is a splendid monument to Republican achievement and serves as a further refutation of Woodrow Wilson's assertion that the Republican party has not had a new idea in 30 years.

JOHN K. GOWDY IN FLORIDA FOR WINTER

Celebrated Hoosier Sojourning in Resort Gets a "Write-up" in the Newspapers.

ACCOMPANIED BY HIS WIFE

The Hon. John K. Gowdy arrived last night from Indiana, accompanied by Mrs. Gowdy, to spend their second winter in the Sunshine City, says the St. Petersburg Daily Times. Up in the Hoosier state Mr. Gowdy is familiarly referred to as "Oom Jack" Gowdy, he having at one time worn beard. Mr. Gowdy was American Consul to Paris, some years ago. "Captain" Gowdy also was chairman of the Indiana Republican Central Committee and his efforts in that position won for him recognition not only in Washington but throughout Indiana.

Robert Mansfield, United States Minister to British Columbia is a son-in-law of Mr. and Mrs. Gowdy, consequently both are interested in diplomatic affairs not only because of Mr. Mansfield's position but because of Mr. Gowdy's experience in Paris. When at home the Gowdy's reside in Rushville, the county seat of Rush county which is one of the big agricultural counties of Indiana. Mr. Gowdy owns a farm which is noted far and near throughout central Indiana for its fine thoroughbred stock.

Mr. and Mrs. Gowdy are registered at the Dusenbury Villa, at least for the time being, if not for the winter season.

Mr. Gowdy and L. P. Newby another well known and prominent Indiana citizen who has been coming to this city for many years, are very warm friends.

U.P. REVIVAL TO CLOSE SUNDAY

burn low and the clock ticks not more loudly than the laboring heart, when the faces of watchers grow wan and haggard and the pale dawn lags, when the farewells are all spoken and the imprisoned soul is struggling to be free; when life like a spent steed, is panting toward the goal and the scenes of life are pictured in memory what dreams will come to those who have lived without God and without hope in the world.

"For those who love God and who have lived in harmony with His will, what splendors await them in the palace of the King, for no static day-dream could foreshadow that apocalypse. Patmos visions that which cannot be written. The same God who piled the Alps and painted the pansy who rolled the sea and hung the dainty dew drop, said, 'Eye hath not seen the things prepared for us.' The same God who fashioned the mind of men and gave him his kingly attributes, his noble comprehension and his longing soul, reveals that it has not entered into the heart of man the inexhaustible revelations of an eternity of development.

"He who wept with the sisters of Bethany, said: 'God shall wipe away the tears from off all faces.' He who agonized in the Garden of Gethsemane, said: 'There shall be no night there.'

"He who has seen his life plans thwarted until the earth is desert and the sky is brass; He who has gone down beneath the chariot wheel of the world and lies face downward in the dust; can he realize an endless age of victory, an eternity of success? Not only golden streets, but grand associations. Not only Jasper walls, but infinite possibilities. Not only mansions, not made with hands, but families reunited. Not only gates of pearl, but perfect peace. And above all, God, who healed the leper, who loved the children, who satisfies forever more. Such dreams are worth the struggle, worth the waiting, worth the sacrifice of a life time, the loyalty of a life.

"Through a long eternity we will suffer the tortures of remorse, separation from God and heaven, eternal torment. Or we will live and love in that great inheritance among the saints in light."

"Jesus Weeping Over Jerusalem" was the theme at the United Presbyterian church last evening "And when He was come near, He beheld the city and wept over it." Luke 19:41. We learn that Jesus earnestly longs for the salvation of sinners. We knew this from the love for souls which a little of His spirit puts into His followers. If Lots soul was vexed from day to day with the abominations he saw around him it was because he had a measure of Christ's Spirit in his heart. If Jeremiah cried, "O that my head were oculus and mine eyes a fountain of tears" that I might weep day and night for the slain of the daughter of my people" it was because he had a measure of Christ's Spirit in his heart.

It is faith in Christ's boundless love that melts the hard heart of the sinner.

Christ's love reaches to the worst of sinners. The blood-stained Manasseh, the persecuting Saul, the thief upon the Cross. All found full forgiveness through the blood of the Lamb.

Not only through the blood of Jesus, but, when received, it changes them into the best of men. The Lord Jesus mourns over men as He knows the awful nature and consequences of sin from which he alone can save them.

He sees how sin is working the eternal ruin of people. How many, right here in Rushville are being ruined by the deceitfulness of sin, and a sight so terrible the Saviour weeps and longs for you who are strangers to him to come to him that he may save you from your sins forever.

The Lord Jesus sees the dreadful hereafter that is before those who refuse his salvation. From his throne in the heavens Jesus can look across the great gulf and see the years of the sinners helpless misery rolling on in the world of woe, and seeing all this, is it any wonder that the living Redeemer yearns over the impenitent sinners who seem bent on his own destruction?

Every one who persists in a course of sin and disregard of the Saviour's love is trampling this love under his feet, crucifying the Lord afresh and putting Him to an open shame.

Let us yield Him our hearts that He may no longer need to weep over us as He wept over guilty impenitent Jerusalem.

Yesterday afternoon Mr. Jamieson gave his second Bible reading on "The Blood." The latter study being, "The Blood in the New Testament. Sabbath evening which will be the last service of the special meetings the Oxford minister will preach on "The Three Crosses."

BREACH OPENED OVER YEAR AGO

Carranza and Villa Broke Relations

Because of Jealousy, Rivalry and Mistrust.

PEACE LASTED SHORT TIME

At One Time Villa Occupied Three-Fourths of Mexico, But Has Gradually Lost Ground.

(By United Press.)

Washington, D. C., Nov. 20.—The present breach between Carranza and Villa was opened a year ago, by jealousy, rivalry and mistrust. Peace was short lived following Carranza's entry into Mexico City in August, 1914. A month later Villa began his revolt against Carranza, who was supported by General Obregon. Gen. Angeles, military rival of Obregon, sided with Villa.

The Villa-Carranza breach widened when Villa demanded that Carranza proclaim himself president according to the "plan of Guadalupe," name a cabinet and call elections. Carranza did not do this. It would have disqualified him for the presidency.

The Aguas Calientes convention was then called to mediate. Carranza claimed the convention was packed by Villa delegates planning his overthrow. The convention, in which Zapata was represented, declared Carranza a rebel, proclaimed the new Conventionalist government, elected Eulalio Gutierrez provisional president. The Villista armies captured Mexico City.

This was the strongest point in Villa's efforts. From this moment his power waned. Carranza and Obregon retreated to Vera Cruz. Villa and Zapata controlled three-fourths of Mexico.

Defection of Gutierrez started the disintegration of Villa's power. Gutierrez, outraged by Villa's cruelties and barbarities, he said, left Mexico City with several thousand troops under Gen. Lucio Blanco. His counter-revolt collapsed. The Conventionalists elected Roque Gonzales Garza president. Gutierrez fled to the mountains. Obregon gradually built up Carranza's army. Mexico City was captured and re-captured a half dozen times.

Villa's forces were gradually pushed northward. His most crushing defeat was at Celaya last spring. There in desperate charges he lost 6,000 men. Superstitious belief in his military infallibility was shattered. He never recovered.

Five years of revolution had prostrated the country. Fields were untitled and devastated. Live stock was confiscated. Famine swept the country. Business collapsed. Villa's army was pushed back to the border.

The President last July made another move to pacify Mexico by calling representatives of six Latin-American countries to aid the U. S. Carranza would not participate and with Villa apparently a broken reed, the conferees recommended recognition of the Carranza government.

The last desperate struggle of Villa at Agua Prieta, opposite Douglas, Ariz., having failed, today Carranza is entering upon the reconstruction of Mexico.

ITALIANS DESTROY TOWN

But Gain Very Little From Military Standpoint.

Vienna, Nov. 20.—Goritz is burning in many places today. The Italians have thrown more than three thousand shells into the town. Many of the inhabitants have been killed and the property damage is enormous. From a military standpoint, however, the Italians have accomplished but little. The Austrians have firmly held their original positions.

A bump on the head may be either a sign of intelligence or of a busted cane. Take your choice when offering explanation.

A TALE OF TWO EDS.

(Muncie Press.)

Edw. S. Lee, who, as a former undertaker, is well qualified for his new job of viewing the remains of the once populous Progressive party in the funeral district gatherings of the lonesome faithful which have been held at various points in the state, says he is unable to explain the action of Ed Toner of Anderson, in resigning as state chairman of the Progressive party.

It is at least reasonably certain that the Anderson Ed did not resign his chairmanship on account of a failure to land a job as United States Marshal, revenue collector, or something equally as good, at the hands of President Taft. Mr. Toner resigned, to be candid, because this thing of sitting up with a corpse becomes slightly disconcerting to a sensitive person after a few months following the decease.

GREAT INTEREST IN CASE

Friends of Two Men Lineup on Opposite Sides at Crown Point

(By United Press.)

Crown Point, Ind., Nov. 20.—Friends of S. E. Craig and of Jack Burke lined up against each other when the trial of Burke, charged with carrying concealed weapons, opened before Special Judge M. J. Smith. Burke is also charged with conducting a blind tiger. The case will be tried later.

More than ordinary interest centered about this case today because of the feeling engendered between the principals. Burke, a Cedar Lake saloonkeeper, is charged with running the blind pig at the county fair. Craig asserts that when he went to cause the arrest of Burke he discovered the tiger.

RIFLEMEN MEET

(By United Press.)

Hartford City, Ind., Nov. 20.—Who would hog the prizes of two hogs was the question debated today by crack riflemen who gathered at the Hitesman farm south of here to open officially the rifle shoot season in Blackford county. The match was 40 yards at centers.

After Villa has made his last stand, the grand stand of the Mexican "patriot" will always remain.

NICE FIGHT ON AT INSTITUTE

City Teachers Favor Move to Disband Rush County Organization
—Vote Late Today.

CHANCES ARE IT WILL FAIL

Program Considered Best in Years
With Three Well Known
Educators Speaking.

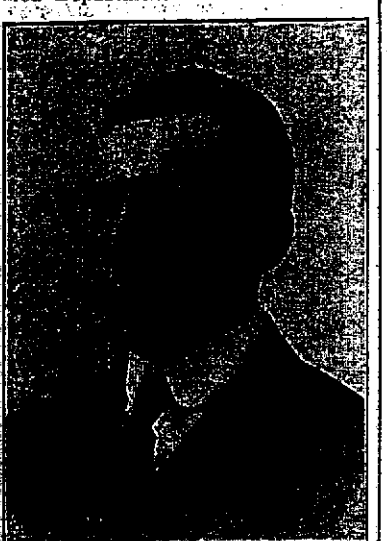

A movement was on foot today at the Rush County Teachers' Institute to disband the organization. This kind of a move was known to be favored by the teachers of the public schools of Rushville, but will likely be opposed by the other teachers. It was expected that the fight will develop one way or the other when the matter was introduced in resolution form late this afternoon at the business session.

The teachers of this city believe they have enough institutes of their own without having to attend these and thus started the fight to disband the organization. It was hardly thought likely that favorable action would be taken on this kind of a resolution.

The teachers of Rush county in their twenty-first annual institute were given an opportunity of hearing three men of exceptional ability. It is seldom that an institute program contains as many speakers especially as the men came here as educators. The attendance was large and the institute was a success from every standpoint. The sessions were held in the auditorium of the Graham building.

The officers elected for next year were as follows: C. M. Conger, president; Mrs. Margaret Morton, vice-president; Miss Margaret Clemm, secretary, and Miss Mary Stewart, treasurer. The executive committee is as follows: N. W. Coil, Harry Mahan and William Grose.

The speakers here for the institute were Prof. G. I. Christie, superintendent of the Agricultural Extension Department of Purdue University.

PROF. G. I. CHRISTIE.

sity; Prof. L. J. Retter, head of the physiology department of the Indiana State Normal and E. B. Wetherow, superintendent of the public schools of Miami county.

The morning program was so arranged that sectional programs were held. This afternoon the two addresses were given by Prof. Christie and Prof. Retter. At the morning session Prof. Retter spoke on the subject "The New Emphasis in Education." He told of the growth of the school system in this country until at present there is a universal faith in education. He declared that some things were going too far in the public school as the public as a rule believed that if you start a thing in the school it will spread to the outside. He referred to the introduction of the...

ARRANGEMENTS FOR DINNER ABOUT MADE

Membership "Feed" of Chamber of Commerce Will be Held in Christian Church Basement.

A GOOD PROGRAM PLANNED

At a meeting of the committees appointed for the membership dinner of the Chamber of Commerce, it was announced last night that the dinner would be held in the basement of the Main Street Christian church on Wednesday evening, December 1, at six-thirty o'clock. The ticket committee will start work next week placing the tickets at thirty-five cents each.

It is hoped by the various committees to make the membership dinner the biggest thing the Chamber of Commerce ever undertook. The ticket sale is not restricted to the membership alone as it is desired as many as possible outside the membership be present. The program committee is arranging a pleasing program of speeches and music.

The dinner will be served by the Ladies Aid Society of the Main Street Christian church and chicken will have a prominent place on the menu, it is announced.

GUARDIAN HAD NO REGARD FOR TRUST

Clayton Johnson Sent to Jail by
Judge Sparks After Admitting
That he Spent Money.

FAILED TO MAKE HIS REPORT

Failure to make a report to the court while acting as guardian for his two children proved a serious thing for Clayton Johnson. He was sent to jail this morning by Judge Sparks, after he had been removed as guardian for Leo and Ora Johnson, his two children, and will remain in jail until the report is made. Thomas M. Green was appointed guardian.

An attachment was issued for Johnson to the sheriff of Henry county, but he could not be located there. The attachment was then sent to Wayne county and Johnson was brought here this morning by the sheriff of Wayne county. When arraigned before Judge Sparks, Johnson admitted that he spent the money for his own use and the court to show Johnson that guardianship funds should not be trifled with sent him to jail. The trust amounted to $232 and the report was due last February.

RATES FOR ONE YEAR LOWERED

General Decrease in Cost of Short-Term Insurance Policies is in Effect Here.

WANT TO REDUCE SURPLUS

This Revealed by Fact That Five-Year Policies' Rates Are Increased—Three-Year Same.

Despite talk of increased fire insurance rates for this city, the new rate which became effective last August and under which policies are being written, is less than last year for one year policies. It was generally known that a new rate was effective, but it has been since last August, and while there is talk of another adjustment soon, insurance men here do not take much stock in this talk as the new rate was made and approved by the Sellers agency of Indianapolis.

From the new rates it is obvious that the insurance companies are getting away from the long term risks. This is shown from the fact that one year policies are lowered and the rate for a five year policy is increased. One insurance man stated that the insurance companies desired to reduce their surplus funds and the risk is considerably greater.

The rate on an ordinary frame house with a shingle roof is now thirty-two cents on the $100. These kind of houses are in the majority in Rushville and because of this these rates are cited. The old rate for this kind of a house was forty cents for the one hundred dollars. This rate is for one year policies. The three year policies for frame houses with shingle roofs is eighty cents for each $100 of insurance.

There is no change in the rates for three-year policies, the new rate remaining at eighty cents. The rate for five year policies, however, is increased 8 cents on the $100 worth of insurance. The new rate for a five year policy is $1.28 per $100, while formerly it was $1.20.

From this schedule of rates it is readily seen that the insurance companies are discouraging the long term policy and urging the one year policy in its place.

The price of insurance on buildings in the business district will not be materially changed by the new rate. The ordinary brick mercantile building can be insured for a one year term at the old rates, while the longer period policy is raised considerably.

EASY FOR HARVARD.

(By United Press.)

Cambridge, Mass., Nov. 20.—Harvard was having an apparently easy time over Yale this afternoon. The score at the end of the second quarter was Harvard 27; Yale 0. In the first period Mahan punted to Bingham, who fumbled the ball. Harte grabbed the ball and ran twenty-five yards for the first touchdown. Harvard led 13 to 0 at the end of the first period.

RAILROAD CASE HEARD.

The case against the Pennsylvania railroad for alleged violations of a statute providing for a certain number of men on a section, was heard this morning by Mayor Bebout and taken under advisement. The affidavit was filed by Alex Roan, who was formerly employed on the railroad as a section man. Under the law the railroad must have three men on the section.

Miss Marie Richardson of Connersville was a shopper in this city yesterday.

U. P. REVIVAL TO CLOSE SUNDAY

Successful Meeting Under Direction
of the Rev. S. R. Jamieson of
Oxford Will End.

WEATHER PROVES NO DAMPER

One More Addition Last Night at
Main Street Christian Bringing Total to 40.

Bad weather last night had little effect on the attendance at the revival services being conducted here. At the Main Street Christian church one more addition to the church was reported, bringing the total up to forty.

The United Presbyterian church announces that the revival there will come to a close Sunday evening. The services have been conducted by the Rev. S. R. Jamieson of Oxford, O. He will preach both morning and evening tomorrow. At the morning service baptism will be administered; the newly elected elders will be ordained and the Lord's Supper observed. The subject of the morning sermon is "The Love of God." In the evening he will preach on the subject "The Three Crosses."

The Rev. J. O. H. Smith will preach both morning and evening Sunday at the Main Street Christian church. A special meeting for men has been arranged for Sunday afternoon at three o'clock. At this service the Rev. Mr. Smith will talk for his subject "A Man's a Man For A' That" and H. H. Saunders will sing "Mother Macdree." This service is open to all men of the city.

Evangelist J. H. O. Smith's sermon at the Main Street Christian church last night, was on the topic: "What Dreams May Come." He spoke in part as follows:

"The King was dead—and buried. The wailing funeral dirge thrilled to a wedding march, as the fickle queen turned from the tomb of her Lord to wed her brother. Her son-Mysterious Hamlet-brooding over this shameful haste, sees the uneasy spirit of his father. From those ghostly lips he hears strange words of murder and revenge that set his heart throbbing and his reason reeling. Shall he avenge his father's death upon his guilty usurper, or shall he end his own miserable life. His own quietus make with bare bodkin? 'To die—to sleep—perchance to dream—aye there's the rub. For in that sleep of death what dreams may come, when we have shuffled off this mortal coil, must give us pause.'

"Death does not end all. Character is indestructible. A wasted life, a fiend-tormented soul tastes hell this side the grave. What can eternally do for a character that once was pure, but for years has been distorted and defiled. 'The worm dieth not.' An eternity of remorse. 'The fire is not quenched.' What flames so awful as the memory of evil deeds?

"We do not like to hear of 'Outer darkness, where there is weeping and gnashing of teeth.' But we do not hear these outcries of lost souls even this side of eternity? Nay, walk along our streets and know that in more than one home, women lie prostrate in an agony of remorse, and men curse God and long for death. What hope is there? What angel can we call to those demon-haunted pillows, changing those horrid dreams to visions of delight? If there is no hope in Christ, then an awful eternity of remorse awaits us. After the final struggle, after the weary days of darkened rooms and hushed foot steps, the pitiful smiles of false encouragement, the fearful voices trying to cheer the long nights when the lights

MANN HAS HIS OWN IDEAS

Washington, Nov. 20.—Informed today that he would be invited by the president to consult of the preparedness program, Representative Mann of Illinois, Republican leader of the House said:

"I am willing to consult with the president on preparedness but I will not go to the white house to be informed of the program I am expected to support. As to myself I favor a general policy of preparedness. I have my own idea and I do not propose to take orders from the president."

CONFEDERATE BILL PASSED AT SOCIAL

Reported Federal Authorities Are
Investigating Passing of Phony
Money at School

INQUIRY IS TO BE THOROUGH

It has just become known that the federal authorities are investigating the passing of a Confederate ten-dollar bill at a social at School No. 9 in Rushville township three miles southwest of this city a week ago Friday night. The story runs that a young woman was the cashier and that when the bill in question was presented, in payment for a 25-cent article she did not give it the "once-over" but promptly passed back the $9.75 in change that was due.

According to reports, it was even more than a Confederate bill. On one side it had the appearance of a Confederate bill, while on the other was an advertisement. It is not known whether the authorities have any clues in their search, but it is said that their inquiry will be very thorough and that they will eventually find who the guilty person is.

LIFE SENTENCE WAS GIVEN CRAIG

Jury Took Seventeen Ballots in Declaring Him Guilty of Murder
in Second Degree.

KILLED FACTORY FOREMAN

(By United Press.)

Newcastle, Ind., Nov. 20.—John Craig, 30, was today found guilty of murder in the second degree by a jury in the Henry circuit court and sentenced to life imprisonment. Craig killed Frank Dean, foreman of the sure-seal room of the Ball Brothers glass factory in Muncie last August during a quarrel following his discharge by Dean.

The jury took seventeen ballots in reaching the verdict. The first two ballots stood 9 to 3 for life punishment and then the vote was 10 to 2 until the agreement was reached.

is Postponed.

SPECIAL JUDGE ON BENCH

Overrules Motion of Railway Company For Judgment on Interrogatories—Other Court News.

The argument on the motion for a new trial in the Johnson-Gray case, set for this morning in circuit court, was postponed because Raymond Springer of Connersville one of the attorneys representing John Gray found it impossible to be in court here today. Great interest has been aroused over the motion for a new trial. The defendant filed affidavits stating misconduct of Juror Jones and the plaintiff came back yesterday with a counter affidavit charging that he did not make the assertions as charged in the first affidavit. Judge David Wilson of Shelbyville was on the bench here this morning long enough to overrule a motion for judgment on the interrogatories in the case of Marshall Green against the Big Four. The jury originally gave Green damages in the sum of $550 and the defendant alleged that the verdict was not consistent with the answer to the interrogatories and asked for judgment on this ground.

The case of Walter E. Smith against Joseph Stern was dismissed and the costs paid. The suit was a proceeding supplementary and followed a judgment secured by Smith against Stern.

A notice was filed by the petitioners in the Cavitt drain case asking that the costs be relaxed.

In the case of the Maryland Casualty company against John A. Grubbs, to be released from his bond as guardian, Judge Sparks ordered Grubbs to file a new bond within ten days. Notice of this kind was given to the sheriff and the court intimated that Grubbs had better get a new bondsman and pay some attention to the court.

Judge Sparks heard the petition of Mrs. Della Cassidy for an allowance this afternoon. The petition was filed as part of the proceedings in her divorce suit against Woodford Cassidy.

Judge Sparks stated today that he would go to Richmond Tuesday to hear argument on a motion for a change of venue in the suit heard there some time ago in which he was special judge. It is quite likely that the case will be sent to Henry.

MRS. ELLEN ALLEN DIES FRIDAY NIGHT

Succumbs One Week After Operation
After Her Recovery Seemed Probable.

FUNERAL WILL BE MONDAY

Mrs. Ellen Allen, age seventy-four years, a native of Ireland, died Friday night at the Sexton sanatorium following an operation, which she underwent last Saturday, for obstruction of the bowels. Her recovery seemed probable until Friday morning when a relapse came and she declined rapidly.

Mrs. Allen came to America with her parents when she was only seven years of age. The greater part of her married life was spent in Indianapolis, where she lived for thirty-five years. She moved here, together with her daughter, Mrs. Eva Cressenger, on June 1, 1913 and since that time had lived at 722 North Perkins street. Mrs. Allen was the widow of George W. Allen.

Four children were born to Mrs. Allen, but only the daughter, Mrs. Cressenger, survives. In addition she is survived by three sisters and two brothers, as follows: Mrs. Anna Raskob of Wilmington, Delaware; Mrs. Beatrice Shomers of Niagara Falls, N. Y.; Mrs. Mary McCoy, living west of Rushville; John and Joe Moran of Indianapolis. She was a member of the Catholic church and the funeral services will be held there Monday morning at nine o'clock. Burial will take place in the Holy Cross cemetery in Indianapolis.

NECESSITY FOR UNION IS SHOWN

B. R. Inman, Former Progressive,
Says Friends of Prosperity
Should All Get Together

TARIFF LAW IS UNPOPULAR

Should be no Discrimination Against Men Because of Their Attitude in 1912

Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 20.—As the campaign advances it is significant to note that among those who are taking an active part in Republican politics in Indiana, are a large number of men who were leaders in the Progressive party in 1912 and 1914. Among these is B. R. Inman, Assistant Secretary of the Columbia Club, of Indianapolis who is in charge of the membership campaign which has resulted in an increase of the Club membership from 1097 to over 3200 since March 1st.

Mr. Inman, like many other former Progressives, believes that a three party alignment is impractical, and that a restoration of a protective tariff is possible only through the success of the Republican party. In a recent issue of the Cincinnati Commercial Tribune, that paper quoted Mr. Inman in an interview concerning the selection of the candidates on the Republican ticket in the coming campaign. The Tribune says: "Ben R. Inman, formerly a well-known newspaper man of the Sixth District, who was one of the most active Progressives in the 1912-14 campaigns, is doing as much as any one man in the State to bring the two wings of the Republican party together for the coming contest. Upon the showing made by the Progressives in the 1914 election Mr. Inman, who was a Republican in every bone and sinew, saw, as did thousands of others, the futility of longer undertaking to combat the Democrats with a divided party, and at once set about to bring the Progressives and Republicans together in order that they might wage successful conflict against the common enemy. In an interview with Mr. Inman this week he said:

"The tariff will be the one overshadowing issue in the next campaign. All Republicans, 90 per cent. of the Progressives and a large number of Democrats believe that the restoration of a protective tariff is essential to national prosperity of a permanent, potential type.

"That the present Democrat tariff law is unpopular with business men generally, as well as with the agricultural classes and wage earners, is evident. That the rehabilitation of the Republican party is essential to the restoration of a protective tariff is also evident.

"Thus it is that Republicans and Progressives alike realize the necessity for a union of all the forces of protection in the 1916 campaign. In order that this may be accomplished

ed it is necessary for those who disagreed in 1912 to put aside their differences as to leadership at that time and submit to the will of the majority in the rehabilitated party as to the leadership in 1916.

"In the selection of the candidates on the Republican ticket from county to national in 1916, there should be no discrimination against any man because of his attitude in 1912. Ability, fitness and capacity for highest type of public service should be the first consideration in the selection of the nominees in the coming campaign. The individual who persists in demanding that one person should not be nominated for a public office because he was promoting the nomination of Mr. Taft in 1912 is as unreasonable and impractical as the one who insists that the man who favored the nomination of Mr. Roosevelt should be eliminated as a candidate. Either attitude is absurd. Each should concede that the other had a perfect right to adopt his own course in 1912. All should agree that the nominees of the Republican party in 1916 shall be selected by the majority of those who will vote the Republican ticket at that election, and when such selection has been made the nominees are entitled to and should receive the enthusiastic support of every voter who believes in the cardinal principles of the Republican party, regardless of the nominees' action in 1912.

"The position here taken by Mr. Inman will no doubt meet with the hearty approval of the leaders of both Progressives and Republicans and should go a long way towards bringing about a close union of the forces of good government under the old Republican banner.

Mr. Inman has taken a very sane and practical attitude in this matter; and it is becoming more and more apparent each day that Republican and former Progressives in Indiana are rapidly getting together for a united assault against the common enemy of protection in 1916. As an evidence of the union of the two forces, it is said that in many counties in the state former Progressives will be nominated on the Republican county and legislative tickets.

IS ATTACHED TO HIS OLD MACHINE

President Wilson Retains Typewriter Which Looks Like it Had Been Through War.

REFUSES TO PART WITH IT

Has Ribbon That is About as Fresh as Battle Flag in Museum—Won't Use Another.

(By United Press.)
Washington, Nov. 20.—When President Wilson writes a message to Congress it looks something like this:—

In addition to which the machine's alphabet is badly chewed up to legs and shoulders. The spacebar suffers from intermittent paralysis. Some of the letters are virtually mute. Others have bold, black faces. The ribbon is about as fresh and whole as a battle flag in a museum. The mechanism generally is decrepit, and limps heavily through the affairs of state only under the severest Presidential goading. Mr. Wilson admits it is far from faultless, but he likes it, and he is very proud of the fact that it has no hyphen.

You couldn't get a typewritten line out of the President on any machine but this one—not even with a dark lantern and a jimmie. White House humorists say he has hand-raised the poor old thing so long he has developed a personal attachment for it. If so, that is the only valuable attachment it has.

For years and years the ancient machine has endured professional, authorial and presidential pecking. And pecking is right, for Mr. Wilson is a disciple of the Hunt system, or forefinger hesitation. Wherefore it may be said that this is the only typewriter that ever had the distinction of having hesitated with a President. It might be added that this couple is getting ready to lead congress a merry dance this winter while the orchestra plays "O You Preparedness."

The low, rakish form of this ancient, rusty friend of the President's reposes in his library. They understand each other's idiosyncracies and eccentricities and they stand ready together at any time to battle submarines, blockades of natural ports, or a-a-oh, any darned thing.

TO MAKE IRVINGTON WET

Injunction Against Commissioners Expected to Develop Hard Fight

(By United Press.)
Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 20.—Many declared today when the hearing on a petition for an injunction against the county commissioners opened in circuit court that it would decide whether classic Irvington, the home of Butler college, should be made saloon territory.

The injunction would prevent the commissioners extending the boundaries of Center township (Indianapolis and wet) to include Irvington and Washington township.

A temporary restraining order is now in effect. The reason given by the commissioners for desiring to extend Center township is that they wish to have it include all of Indianapolis.

tion of the Bible into the public school and stated that he believed this should be restricted and started by the aggressive people of a community on the outside of the school.

Superintendent Wetherow spoke on "Common Errors in Teaching Writing." He told of the different things necessary to make a successful writer of a pupil. The material child was placed were large factors discussed by him.

At the morning session Prof. Christie spoke on the subject "Vocational Problems." He stated that many people had the wrong view of the teaching of agriculture in the public school. He said that these people thought that the purpose of the course was to tell them a new way of farming. Prof. Christie declared that this was wrong, as they were not telling the people anything new but aiding them to do better what they already know.

He urged the teachers of agriculture to not stick too closely to the text books but to let the pupils find out some things for themselves out in the fields. He stated that interest could be aroused, not only in the school, but in the entire community by conducting corn shows in the school. Prof. Christie declared that if the teacher succeeds in getting the parents interested the project was assured.

He discussed some of the every day problems of the teachers. One of these is that the small school has no laboratory. Prof. Christie told these teachers to use the fields and woods adjoining the school.

Miss Sleeth, city librarian, addressed the teachers regarding the public library. She urged the teachers to see that the children used it as she declared it was open to the public. She told of the many kinds of books and of the work being done to keep the library up to the standard.

Dr. Coleman, president of the Rush County Society for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis, addressed the teachers on the sale of Red Cross seals. He was busy all day passing out the seals to the teachers, as has been done in the past. The teachers through their pupils should help the sale of the seals greatly.

What do You Think?

When you meet a fellow on the street and his face is warped and twisted by an unholy scowl, what do you think?

When a lazy duffer hogs a whole seat on a train and lets a tired woman stand with a baby in her arms, what do you think?

When John Smith whispers into your ear that Tom Jones "is a good one to look out for," but that you must not tell anyone that he (Smith) said so, what do you think?

When one woman tells you that another woman "is the biggest gossip in town and that the gossip's own closet is just jammed with skeletons," what do you think?

When a politician promises you the earth with an iron fence around it and the moon with all of its green cheese if you will only vote for him, what do you think?

When a public official forgets all of his promises and loses his good resolutions and becomes as blind as a bat as soon as he is inducted into office, what do you think?

When a man coughs up a stiff prayer in church on Sunday and then skins you in a sharp deal on Monday, what do you think?

When a preacher tells you of the glories of religion and of the benefits of purity in your own daily life, and then goes off and eats his Sunday dinner with the biggest old church hypocrite in town, what do you think?

When you hear a fellow bragging of the great deeds he has done and you know he is lying faster than an automobile can speed, what do you think?

When a man tells you a smutty story of some good woman and you know her character is as white as his soul is black, what do you think?

When you hear a young braggart making suggestive remarks about all young girls except his own sister, what do you think?

When you see one may trying to undermine the legitimate business of another by making veiled allusions to possible financial disaster, what do you think?

When a man owes you a dollar and crosses the street to avoid meeting you, what do you think?

When a girl leads a man on to declaring himself and then deliberately tosses him over without compunction, what do you think?

When a duffer borrows a five spot from you and promises to return it tomorrow, and tomorrow never comes, what do you think?

When a man looks you in the eye and tells you a deliberate lie, and you know that he is lying and that he knows that you know it, what do you think?

And if you should happen to do any of these things, what do you think?

Harking Back Few Years

The Economic World, of New York has rendered its readers a very useful service by enlarging its table of statistics showing weekly bank clearings. Heretofore that paper has given statistics for one week in 1915 with comparative figures for 1914. Naturally, the showing was a very gratifying one. Now, in an effort to give its readers all available information upon which to base their opinions, figures are also given for 1913 and 1912. The disclosures will not be at all pleasing to those Democratic statesmen who have been boasting of prosperity "restored." Figures for seven cities—New York, Chicago, Philadelphia, Boston, St. Louis, Baltimore and New Orleans—for the week ending October 22, 1915, show that in every instance the bank clearings were larger for 1915 than for 1914. In only two cities, however, were the clearings larger in 1915 than in 1913. These two were New York and Philadelphia, both located in the region made prosperous by "war orders." In spite of the great boom of war orders, not one of the seven cities above named reports as large an amount of transactions in 1915 as in 1912, the first year of Republican administration. The European war will become far more strenuous than it has yet developed, before it will "restore" the degree of prosperity enjoyed by this country in 1912.

The swing toward Republicanism in this year's elections was impressive and far-reaching. It affected not only the chief places on the ticket but it extended as well to the minor posts. For instance in New York and in Connecticut when mayors of cities were to be chosen, the Republican tide made a practically clean sweep.

"National defense is not a party issue," remarks the Washington "Post," predicting that the Administration program is likely to be more largely supported on the Republican than on the Democratic side. And, dependent as the President is upon Republican votes for the success of his measures for preparedness, the "Post" points out that "no advantage is to be achieved by offering a gratuitous slight to Republican members." Yet, by furthering the closure rule in the Senate, the President seems bent upon this very thing.

Just why should George Burkitt worry over his job as assistant postmaster of the little village of Winnetka, Ill.? Getting fired by the post office department for commenting adversely upon the engagement of the president and Mrs. Galt, and then being promptly and emphatically reinstated by the president himself, has made him a national figure and is rapidly qualifying him for stage life or lecture platform. And really, now, if Mr. Wilson wants to marry Mrs. Galt and the lady is willing, whose business is it? And if Mr. Burkitt wants to exercise the American right of free speech in gentlemanly language, whose business is that?

From the White House, on election night, came no comment on the results of this year's voting. The only statement forthcoming was that the President had gone to bed. As we recall, the stereotyped despatch from Fairview, Lincoln, Nebraska, on the election nights of 1896, 1900 and 1908, read "Mr. Bryan retired early."

In these days you can't make a man out of a monkey, and neither can you make a respectable member of society out of a brainless idiot who gaps around on street corners and makes vulgar remarks about every woman who passes. Feeble minded degenerates should be in asylums for imbeciles, where they belong.

Don't worry over competition in business. It will stiffen your backbone, scrape the rust from your intellect, and life you out of the rut of stagnation. Buck up, step up, and you'll get there.

The editor of the Charleston, W. Va., Gazette boasts that he has 16 sweethearts in that one town, and what more does anyone need than that to demonstrate the power of the press.

When a peppery old duck told his wife she had no sense she meekly pleaded guilty to the charge and pointed to him as the greatest evidence of the fact.

New York has 940,000 school children, according to a newspaper paragraph. Let 'er keep 'em. All local demands can be supplied right here at home.

The talker is a man of words; the producer is one of deeds. We can worry along without the one, but never without the other.

Old King Coal is a terrible soul. A terrible soul is he. He call for your all. He call with gall. And he take you. Yesiree!

A fortune teller for a fifty cent fee will tell you how to get rich and yet live in poverty herself. Hang on to your fifty.

Some men are continually harping on their virtues, but that's because the rest of the world is unable to see them.

Why term it a "handsome profit"? A dollar's worth of soap grease is just as valuable as the same amount in gold.

Germans Ask What They Are Fighting For

The persistent peace talk in the German papers and the equally persistent official and semi-official denials that Germany has no desire to open negotiations for peace, present a curious contradiction.

In THE LITERARY DIGEST for November 20th this phase of the war is covered in an interesting way. Direct translations from the German press for and against peace are given, and the American reader is enabled to sense the feeling of the German people as reflected in their newspapers. One editor who is not altogether friendly to Germany has described her as being in the position of a "poker player, who, after a run of luck, is anxious to get out of the game while the majority of the chips on the table lie before him."

A Famous Author's Experience

"Yes, I have been a reader of THE DIGEST for twenty years—half of my life. For, I think, at least fifteen years my name has been on your subscription list. I expect to continue a reader of the DIGEST as long as I continue to read anything."

"To attempt to gain anything like a clear view of the world's activities through the fogs of prejudice and the clouds of self-interest that hang always about the local newspaper is a hopeless task. For one who would look with unobstructed vision upon the moving world forces that make for or against the welfare of human kind, THE LITERARY DIGEST is a mountain peak in a clear sky."

"To spend hours searching the daily columns of chaff for a few grains of possible truth is a heart-breaking waste of time. And more—one's eyes become so blinded, one's brain so bewildered, by the whirl of unholy dust that one is made incapable of recognizing with any degree of certainty the truth for which he searches. To have the best thought of the best thinkers separated from the mass of worthless matter, winnowed from the dirt of sensationalism and irresponsible thoughtlessness, and presented clean with the unprejudiced scientific dependability of a modern threshing machine, is a Godsend to all who feel that they have work to do that requires clear thinking."

"Because THE LITERARY DIGEST gives me an unclouded view of the world's doings, because it places me in an atmosphere above prejudice and local self-interest, because it separates for me the grain of the world's thought, from the chaff of idle words, and cleans it of the dirt of sensationalism, I appreciate and enjoy it, and am correspondingly grateful to the Funk & Wagnalls Company for the service."—Harold Bell Wright, Author of "The Shepherd of the Hills," "The Eyes of the World," etc.

Defense Policy a Joke.

(Columbus, O.) Monitor.)

The problem of national defense is one which should not be lightly cast aside as an issue which will be taken care of by our own Congress next session. It can be cited that just before each session of Congress there has been prepared by the War College an elaborate program for national defense, which after lengthy talks and pow-wows, has been turned down and the suggestions of a duly elected representative, appointed chairman of military affairs, are given precedence.

The folly of this can be readily understood if taken from a business standpoint. Is it at all probable that a man engaged in the business of farming would be able to carry on the business of manufacturing with any degree of success? Yet such is the status of the present defense program.

Representative James Hay, chairman of the House Military Affairs Committee, assumes sponsorship for the proposed military defense program after ignoring the program of the War College.

It can very easily be assumed that Mr. Hay's support of the administration program comes from the fact that he is a party man and as such will support any measure just so long as that measure is put forward by his party, even to the undermining of the country by inadequate plans for defense against invasion by a foreign foe. Yet, to quote the papers of October 26th: "To him will be entrusted the task of drawing up measures which are to shape a new military policy for the country." This will result in the so-called "Continental Army." A plan so simple, so beautiful and yet so absurd as to give the more serious-minded citizens of the country food for thought. The question now arises, "Will the people of this country calmly stand by and see the real plans for national defense drawn up by men of years experience and training, legislated out of existence by men whose motives can be summed up in the selfish word 'party'?" Will the members of the Republican party "fall for the dope" as handed them by their Democratic friends. While, personally, we do not favor placing the military policies of our country in politics, yet when they are handled with such apparent ignorance this question should be made a national issue, and

men placed in the National Congress who are not afraid of party reasons of doing their patriotic duty towards forming an adequate national defense.

The "Star and Stripe" Session.

Men were enlisting by thousands—the next thing was to equip them. Morton called a special session of the legislature and addressing it in the famous words, "We have passed from the field of argument to the solemn fact of war," called on it for an appropriation of one million dollars. Almost as one voice the legislature responded with over two million, and passed legislation for which the times called. The firing on Sumter had wrought a magic change in this heretofore "vacillating" turbulent and inefficient body so great a change that this extra session was known as the "Star and Stripe" session.

WAR NEWS OF ONE YEAR AGO TODAY

* Seven million men were fighting on the Eastern front. Washington accepted Turkey's explanation that the U. S. S. Tennessee was fired on because she was entering a mined harbor at Smyrna.

* Mrs. James Barret is ill at her home in West First street.

DRINK HOT TEA FOR A BAD COLD

Get a small package of Hamburg Breast Tea, or as the German folks call it, "Hamburger Brust Tee," at any pharmacy. Take a tablespoonful of the tea, put a cup of boiling water upon it, pour through a sieve and drink a teaspoon full at any time during the day or before retiring. It is the most effective way to break a cold and cure grip, as it opens the pores of the skin, relieving congestion. Also, it loosens the bowels, thus driving a cold from the system.

Try it the next time you suffer from a cold or the grip. It is inexpensive and entirely vegetable, therefore safe and harmless.

RUB BACKACHE AND LUMBAGO RIGHT OUT

Rub Pain and Stiffness away with a small bottle of old honest St. Jacobs Oil

When your back is sore and lame or lumbago, sciatica or rheumatism has you stiffened up, don't suffer! Get a 25 cent bottle of old, honest "St. Jacobs Oil" at any drug store, pour a little in your hand and rub it right into the pain or ache, and by the time you count fifty, the soreness and lameness is gone.

Don't stay crippled! This soothing, penetrating oil needs to be used only once. It takes the ache and pain right out of your back and ends the misery. It is magical, yet absolutely harmless and doesn't burn the skin.

Nothing else stops lumbago, sciatica and lame back misery so promptly!

CAGED BASKETBALL STATE WATCHES WHISTLE BLEW BIG GAMES TODAY

Captain Bryce Stoops Throws Field Goal in Liberty Game That Is Not Allowed.

PLAYS A CLOSE GAME

Rushville Loses First Game by Close Score of 25 to 24 to The Liberty High School.

The Rushville high school basketball team lost the first scheduled game of the season last night to the Liberty high school, at Liberty, by the close score of 25 to 24. The local team played a great game from start to finish and it was either teams game until the final whistle blew. The local five led by a margin of one point at the close of the first half, the score being 10 to 9.

The local five outplayed the Liberty team in its fast team work and floor work, but fell a little short at shooting the hoop. The Rushville team made remarkable passes and by fast team work, made the plays difficult to be broken up. The whistle calling the time, it was blown just as Forward Bryce Stoops of the local five hurled a field goal into the basket. It is said that the field goal was not allowed because it was not completely caged when the final whistle blew.

The game was very sportsmanlike and was immensely enjoyed by the Rushville quintet. Considering that it was the first scheduled game of the season, the local five showed up very well. Arthur Fry started in at forward, playing opposite Captain Stoops, but he was taken out and Dye given a chance. Finally Pope took Dye's place and finished the game. The summary:

RUSHVILLE	LIBERTY
Stoops	Barnard
Fry, Dye	Forward
Martin	Forward
Reed	Center
Frazier, Pope	Guard
	Guard

Field goals, Barnard 4, Stevens 3, Whitman, Stoops 5, Fry 2, Martin 2, Dye. Foul throws, Stevens 9; Stoops 4.

Indiana Has Chance of Decade to Beat Boilermakers in Their Annual Tilt.

TODAY'S FOOTBALL GAMES.
Purdue vs. Indiana, at Bloomington.
Wabash vs. DePauw, at Indianapolis.
Butler vs. Earlham, at Richmond.

(U. P. Staff Correspondent.)
Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 20.—One football championship and two stern rivalries kept Indiana fandom close to the singing wires this afternoon, listening for results. In Bloomington, Indianapolis and at Richmond, three even battles began before partisan crowds that did their best to add to the tenseness of the situation on the gridiron before them.

Indiana was all set today to wipe out Purdue's record of four terrific beatings in a row. In the past four years while Indiana has scored 43 points, Purdue has scored 111. With every sign pointing to football rejuvenation at the coed, institution, and with Purdue still smarting under the humiliating defeat of last Saturday when Kentucky State beat the Boilermakers 7 to 0, it appeared that Indiana had the chance of a decade.

Taking the record of the two state institutions since football relations began in 1893, they are practically at a tie. Indiana has won eight games, scoring 226 points while Purdue has won seven games, scoring 224 points. There was one tie, in 1905.

Not a few fans swore today that better pigskin manipulation would be seen at Indianapolis where DePauw and Wabash play, than at Bloomington. The game at Washington park had additional attraction, in that it was for a title. For first time in several years the secondary colleges will have a champion where dope does not figure—providing this is not an unsatisfactory tie game. Both the Methodist and the Presbyterian schools have gone through the season without a defeat so far as the secondary schools are concerned. DePauw has lost only to Indiana and St. Louis.

The Little Giants had slightly the better of the dope on this afternoon's game. Their string of victories looked good and it was known that the fighting spirit that has given Wabash a name in the middlewest had flamed up to its height again.

Some comparisons on scores were possible. DePauw beat Earlham three weeks ago 42 to 6. Wabash beat Earlham last Saturday 35 to 0. Wabash beat Franklin 40 to 9 while DePauw beat Franklin 6 to 2. DePauw beat Butler 39 to 0 while the Presbyterians beat the Christians 35 to 7. The dope did little but make it appear that the result was a toss-up.

DePauw beat Wabash 3 to 0 last year, but Wabash is 50 per cent. stronger this year than last. Since 1890 DePauw has won eight games, Wabash has won eight, and two have been ties. Wabash often has won by big scores, such as 62 to 0 and 52 to 0, but only the proteges of Mrs. Edenharter looked for a one-sided score today.

Of much lesser consequence but of much interest was the Butler-Earlham game at Richmond this afternoon. Although the casual observer probably would put his cash on the Irvington team, the Quakers had grounds for a sneaking suspicion that they would run away with the game by a low margin.

Interest in the game was heightened by the fact that Earlham and Butler are bitter rivals. Athletic relationships have not always been the most pleasant, and the keenest of rivalry always has existed. Next to DePauw, Earlham would rather beat Butler than any other school.

Consider only the secondary college dope. Butler has lost four and won one game, losing to Franklin, Rose Poly, Wabash and DePauw and winning from Hanover last Saturday. Earlham has lost four secondary college games and won one, winning from Hanover and losing to Rose, Franklin, Wabash and DePauw. Earlham lost to Rose 7 to 6, while Butler lost to Rose 7 to 0. DePauw beat Earlham 42 to 6, and Butler 39 to 0. Wabash beat Earlham 35 to 0 and Butler 35 to 7. But Earlham's big black mark came in the Franklin game, which she lost 64 to 0. Franklin beat Butler 20 to 16.

The point in Earlham's favor today was that she was playing on her own field. Butler was secondary champion last year.

NEW YORK FASHION NOTES

BY MARGARET MASON.
(Written for United Press.)

When Kate goes to skate in her costume so chic,

She'll not mind a bit when some girl does a trick
And cuts fancy figures to outdo the rest.

Kate knows the figure she cuts is the best.

New York, Nov. 19.—No wonder the mercury drops to zero when the skating season begins—it wants to look 'round. Everybody does, when the new skating costumes burst into view and one good look deserves another.

The ice of conventionality is due to be smartly broken when some cute little ice Flo cuts a dash and a figure across the pond in a green mottled silk sweater banded, collared, cuffed and buttoned in gold; a knee length skirt of pelated green and gold stripes, a sassy little round cap with a golden tassel and knee high laced green boots with a tassel of gold bobbing in their tops.

The skating jackets and sweaters are of the most bizarre patterns and garish hues. Fur bands them at every conceivable point as it also bands the short pleated skirts, the skating caps and the tops of the skating boots. Persian figured sweaters as well as one-toned ones of vivid hue are worn with striped skirts of pleated velour de laine; and jackets and skirts to match, of emerald green or cerise, are gorgeous when trimmed in wide bands of white fox.

An all white costume with a short jacket hung crepe like and full from the shoulders is embroidered in silver thread and banded in white fox. The fur-finished full skirt has big silver embroidered pockets on each side. The high white boots are laced with silver and have a silver tassel nestling in their fur tops. A white fox turban, silver tasseled, tops the costume; and a huge round muff of the white fox, with silver tassels, takes the wearer in hand. This costume of snow and silver is fit for the Ice Queen herself and no skittish skater could ever be a frost in it.

Gorgeous bags for skates, embroidered and fur trimmed to match the gay sweaters, hestic muffers and quaintly ornate muffs are a few of the accessories necessary for the complete skater this year. If a fair skater, thus heavily accoutred, can still skate and get away with it, she is in a class with Charlotte at the Hippodrome, that peerless pirouetter of the ice ballet.

Incidentally, the introduction of the ice ballet in several of the New York musical productions seems to have given a spirit to the gentle art of skating that may freeze out the dance. But beware if you seek to emulate Charlotte with too much excess baggage.

"Mother, may I go out to skate?"
"Yes, but heed advice:
"If you've muffer, bag and muff,
"Then don't go near the ice!"

FIGHT SEEMED TO BE BREWING

Ominous Air About Fifth District Gathering of Woman's Franchise League at Brazil

PITCHED BATTLE EXPECTED
Fight For Influence in Home Section of Mrs. Cox and Mrs. Stimson Expected to be Interesting

(By United Press.)
Brazil, Ind., Nov. 20.—When women of the Fifth district gathered here today for the district meeting of the Woman's Franchise League, there was an ominous air about the meeting that reminded one of a pitched battle. This is the home district of Mrs. L. J. Cox and Mrs. S. C. Stimson the two women whose bitter fight in the Federation of Clubs convention at Indianapolis threatened to disrupt that organization and has now spread to every district in Indiana.

The battle of influence here today was whether Mrs. Cox or Mrs. Stimson should control their home district.

Brazil is a scant 15 miles from Terre Haute, the home of the two principals, and women from that city began streaming in early. They were met by a cavalcade from Indianapolis, representing the state organization, known to be hostile thus far in the district meetings, there were indications that she might be able to swing her own district. This the Cox forces would not concede, however.

The fight started when Mrs. Stimson chose to oppose the candidacy of Mrs. Cox for the presidency of the Federation. Mrs. Stimson won her fight, after branding Mrs. Cox as the liberal candidate. The methods Mrs. Stimson used to win have been made the basis of the fight in the Franchise League. Her opponents have charged that she circulated papers branding Mrs. Cox as a friend of the orderly saloon. Mrs. Stimson has at no time denied that she circulated such papers.

Although Mrs. Stimson won easily in the Federation, defeating the supposedly undefeatable Mrs. Grace Julian Clarke leader of the Cox forces, the Franchise League cast almost a solid vote for Mrs. Cox. The next development was a vote of a partial meeting of board members of the league to ask Mrs. Stimson to resign from the board. This Mrs. Stimson declared she would not do. She said her opponents were the friends of the liquor interests and nonchurch people. In five districts the fight for and against Mrs. Stimson has been waged. First at Anderson the district voted to sustain Mrs. Stimson. Then at Huntington, Elkhart and Evansville they voted to sustain the action of the board in asking her to resign. Richmond was wise and voted to be neutral. No action was taken at Lafayette.

STANDS A CREDIT TO REPUBLICANS

Reorganization of Consular Service in 1906 an Admiral Piece of Constructive Legislation.

PLACED ON A SOUND BASIS
Lodge Bill, Receiving Solid Support of Republicans, Passed on April 5, 1906.

Washington, Nov. 20.—One of the most admirable pieces of constructive legislation to be credited to the Republican party is to be found in the reorganization of the consular service, which took place in 1906.

The report of the Civil Service Commission for 1902 stated: "Our consular service has attained an importance far beyond that which it had any previous period of our history. So long as our exports were confined to a few agricultural products and we sold our manufactured goods mostly at home, the foreign consul was a man of comparatively very little importance. But we have entered upon a new phase of our national career. The chief characteristics of this national expansion were developed during the five year period from 1897, when the Dingley tariff law went into effect, to 1902.

Efforts looking to the reorganization of the consular service had never been more than half-heartedly undertaken by the Democratic party. In 1895 Cleveland issued an order which provided for an examination board to test the fitness of consular applicants. A student of the question, Avar L. Bishop, of Yale, says: "It does not appear that the standard governing appointments was thereby much improved, for the examination was, in many cases, a mere matter of form—the appointment often preceding it."

In 1906, Roosevelt, Root, Lodge, and Robert Adams, Jr., of Pennsylvania, took up the question of putting our consular service on a sound basis. A bill was introduced by Senator Lodge, the business men of the country became interested in the subject, and a national consular reform convention was held in Washington, which adopted the following resolution: "It is the opinion of the constituent bodies of this convention that the consular service of the United States should be reorganized as provided for in Senate Bill 1345, introduced by Senator Lodge. Every feature of that bill is, in the judgment of the business organizations of the country, most essential and in harmony with the growing needs of the United States."

The Lodge bill was passed April 5, 1906, receiving the solid support of the Republicans, both in the Senate and in the House. It became operative June 30, following. It provided for a grading of the service, the substitution of salaries for fees, forbade consuls to engage in private business, declared that all consuls getting $1000 or more a year should be American citizens, and established a corps of consular inspectors. To make the consular service still more efficient, President Roosevelt, by executive order of June 27, put it on a merit system basis. Vacancies in the two lower grades were to be filled by examination, (and the examination is a stiff one) and in the higher grades by promotion. Due to this order the consular service offered a career worthy the consideration of a high class of men. As a political plum-tree it was severed at the foot. To use the language of then Secretary Root, at the hearing on the bill: "So long as the present administration is in power there is every assurance that the merit system as provided for in the executive order of June 27 will govern not only appointments, but promotions as well."

The work of the Republican party in placing the consular service on a firm foundation has been productive of excellent results. The structure still remains, despite several undermining influences put into operation by the present administration. It is a splendid monument to Republican achievement and serves as a further refutation of Woodrow Wilson's assertion that the Republican party has not had a new idea in 30 years.

JOHN K. GOWDY IN FLORIDA FOR WINTER

Celebrated Hoosier Sojourning in Resort Gets a "Write-up" in the Newspapers.

ACCOMPANIED BY HIS WIFE

The Hon. John K. Gowdy arrived last night from Indiana, accompanied by Mrs. Gowdy, to spend their second winter in the Sunshine City, says the St. Petersburg Daily Times. Up in the Hoosier state Mr. Gowdy is familiarly referred to as "Oom Jack" Gowdy, he having at one time worn beard. Mr. Gowdy was American Consul to Paris, some years ago. "Captain" Gowdy also was chairman of the Indiana Republican Central Committee and his efforts in that position won for him recognition not only in Washington but throughout Indiana.

Robert Mansfield, United States Minister to British Columbia is a son-in-law of Mr. and Mrs. Gowdy, consequently both are interested in diplomatic affairs not only because of Mr. Mansfield's position but because of Mr. Gowdy's experience in Paris. When at home the Gowdy's reside in Nashville, the county seat of Rush county which is one of the big agricultural counties of Indiana. Mr. Gowdy owns a farm which is noted far and near throughout central Indiana for its fine thoroughbred stock.

Mr. and Mrs. Gowdy are registered at the Dusenbury Villa, at least for the time being, if not for the winter season. Mr. Gowdy and L. P. Newby another well known and prominent Indiana citizen who has been coming to this city for many years, are very warm friends.

Good Health Doubles the Value of Your Services

A half sick man is not worth half pay. A man or woman in poor health makes a poor leader, a poor sort of a parent.

The value of Peruna in the home can scarcely be estimated. It prevents many of the common ailments. It is an excellent remedy for coughs, colds, catarrh, grip, spring fever, tired-out feeling.

Sit down and think: It over. See whether you can afford to go on half sick.

Some people prefer Peruna Tablets to the fluid Peruna.

burn low and the clock ticks not more loudly than the laboring heart when the faces of watchers grow wan and haggard and the pale dawn lags, when the farewells are all spoken and the imprisoned soul is struggling to be free: when life like a spent steed, is panting toward the goal and the scenes of life are pictured in memory what dreams will come to those who have lived without God and without hope in the world.

"For those who love God and who have lived in harmony with His will, what splendors await them in the palace of the King, for no earthly day-dream could foreshadow that apocalypse. Patmos visions that which cannot be written. The same God who piled the Alps and painted the pansy who rolled the sea and hung the dainty dew drop, said: 'Eye hath not seen the things prepared for us.' The same God who fashioned the mind of men and gave him his kingly attributes, his noble comprehension and his long-ruled soul, reveals that it has not entered into the heart of man the inexhaustible revelations of an eternity of development.

"He who wept with the sisters of Bethany, said: 'God shall wipe away the tears from off all faces.' He who agonized in the Garden of Gethsemane, said: 'There shall be no night there.'

"He who has seen his life plans thwarted until the earth is desert and the sky is brass; He who has gone down beneath the chariot wheel of the world and lies face downward in the dust; can he realize an endless age of victory, an eternity of success? Not only golden streets, but grand associations. Not only Jasper walls, but infinite possibilities. Not only mansions, not made with hands, but families reunited. Not only gates of pearl, but perfect peace. And above all, God, who healed the leper, who loved the children, who satisfies forever more. Such dreams are worth the struggle, worth the waiting, worth the sacrifice of a life time, the loyalty of a life.

"Through a long eternity we will suffer the tortures of remorse, separation from God and heaven, eternal torment. Or we will live and love in that great inheritance among the saints in light."

"Jesus Weeping Over Jerusalem" was the theme at the United Presbyterian church last evening. "And when He was come near, He beheld the city and wept over it." Luke 19:41. We learn that Jesus earnestly longed for the salvation of sinners. We knew this from the love for souls which a little of His spirit puts into His followers. If Lot's soul was vexed from day to day with the abominations he saw around him it was because he had a measure of Christ's Spirit in his heart. If Jeremiah cried, "O that my head were oaken and mine eyes a fountain of tears" that I might weep day and night for the slain of the daughter of my people" it was because he had a measure of Christ's Spirit in his heart.

It is faith in Christ's boundless love that melts the hard heart of the sinner.

Christ's love reaches to the worst of sinners. The blood-stained Manasseh, the persecuting Saul, the thief upon the Cross. All found full forgiveness through the blood of the Lamb.

Not only through the blood of Jesus, but, when received, it changes them into the best of men. The Lord Jesus mourns over men as He knows the awful nature and consequences of sin from which he alone can save them.

He sees how sin is working the eternal ruin of people. How many, right here in Rushville are being ruined by the deceitfulness of sin, and a sight so terrible the Saviour weeps and longs for you who are strangers to him to come to him that he may save you from your sins forever.

The Lord Jesus sees the dreadful hereafter that is before those who refuse his salvation. From his throne in the heavens Jesus can look across the great gulf and see the years of the sinners helpless misery rolling on in the world of woe, and seeing all this, is it any wonder that the living Redeemer yearns over the impenitent sinners who seem bent on his own destruction?

Every one who persists in a course of sin and disregard of the Saviour's love is trampling this love under his feet, crucifying the Lord afresh and putting Him to an open shame.

Let us yield Him our hearts that He may no longer need to weep over us as He wept over guilty impenitent Jerusalem.

Yesterday afternoon Mr. Jamieson gave his second Bible reading on "The Blood." The latter study being, "The Blood in the New Testament. Sabbath evening which will be the last service of the special meetings the Oxford minister will preach on "The Three Crosses."

BREACH OPENED OVER YEAR AGO

Carranza and Villa Broke Relations Because of Jealousy, Rivalry and Mistrust.

PEACE LASTED SHORT TIME

At One Time Villa Occupied Three-Fourths of Mexico, But Has Gradually Lost Ground.

(By United Press.)

Washington, D. C., Nov. 20.—The present breach between Carranza and Villa was opened a year ago, by jealousy, rivalry and mistrust. Peace was short lived following Carranza's entry into Mexico City in August, 1914. A month later Villa began his revolt against Carranza, who was supported by General Obregon. Gen. Angeles, military rival of Obregon, sided with Villa.

The Villa-Carranza breach widened when Villa demanded that Carranza proclaim himself president according to the "plan of Guadalupe," name a cabinet and call elections. Carranza did not do this. It would have disqualified him for the presidency.

The Aguas Calientes convention was then called to mediate. Carranza claimed the convention was packed by Villa delegates planning his overthrow. The convention, in which Zapata was represented, declared Carranza a rebel, proclaimed the new Conventionalist government, elected Eulalio Gutierrez provisional president. The Villista armies captured Mexico City.

This was the strongest point in Villa's efforts. From this moment his power waned. Carranza and Obregon retreated to Vera Cruz. Villa and Zapata controlled three-fourths of Mexico.

Defection of Gutierrez started the disintegration of Villa's power. Gutierrez, outraged by Villa's cruelties and barbarities, he said, left Mexico City with several thousand troops under Gen. Lucio Blanco. His counter-revolt collapsed. The Conventionalists elected Roque Gonzales Garza president. Gutierrez fled to the mountains. Obregon gradually built up Carranza's army. Mexico City was captured and re-captured a half dozen times.

Villa's forces were gradually pushed northward. His most crushing defeat was at Celaya last spring. There in desperate charges he lost 6,000 men. Superstitious belief in his military infallibility was shattered. He never recovered.

Five years of revolution had prostrated the country. Fields were untilled and devastated. Live stock was confiscated. Famine swept the country. Business collapsed. Villa's army was pushed back to the border.

The President last July made another move to pacify Mexico by calling representatives of six Latin-American countries to aid the U. S. Carranza would not participate and with Villa apparently a broken reed, the conferees recommended recognition of the Carranza government.

The last desperate struggle of Villa at Agua Prieta, opposite Douglas, Ariz., having failed, today Carranza is entering upon the reconstruction of Mexico.

ITALIANS DESTROY TOWN

But Gain Very Little From Military Standpoint.

Vienna, Nov. 20.—Goritz is burning in many places today. The Italians have thrown more than three thousand shells into the town. Many of the inhabitants have been killed and the property damage is enormous. From a military standpoint, however, the Italians have accomplished but little. The Austrians have firmly held their original positions.

A bump on the head may be either a sign of intelligence or of a busted can. Take your choice when offering explanation.

A TALE OF TWO EDS.

(Muncie Press.)

Edw. S. Lee, who, as a former undertaker, is well qualified for his new job of viewing the remains of the once populous Progressive party in the funeral district gatherings of the lonesome faithful which have been held at various points in the state, says he is unable to explain the action of Ed Toner of Anderson, in resigning as state chairman of the Progressive party.

It is at least reasonably certain that the Anderson Ed did not resign his chairmanship on account of a failure to land a job as United States Marshal, revenue collector, or something equally as good, at the hands of President Taft. Mr. Toner resigned, to be candid, because this thing of sitting up with a corpse becomes slightly disconcerting to a sensitive person after a few months following the decease.

Friends of Two Men Lineup on Opposite Sides at Crown Point

(By United Press.)

Crown Point, Ind., Nov. 20.—Friends of S. E. Craig and of Jack Burke lined up against each other when the trial of Burke, charged with carrying concealed weapons, opened before Special Judge M. J. Smith. Burke is also charged with conducting a blind tiger. The case will be tried later.

More than ordinary interest centered about this case today because of the feeling engendered between the principals. Burke, a Cedar Lake saloonkeeper, is charged with running the blind pig at the county fair. Craig asserts that when he went to cause the arrest of Burke he discovered the tiger.

RIFLEMEN MEET

(By United Press.)

Hartford City, Ind., Nov. 20.—Who would hog the prizes of two hogs was the question debated today by crack riflemen who gathered at the Hitesman farm south of here to open officially the rifle shoot season in Blackford county. The match was 40 yards at centers.

After Villa has made his last stand, the grand stand of the Mexican patriot will always remain.
